SUMMARY.

The survivors from the Lusitania total 761, comprising 487 passengers, and 274 crew. The death roll is 1399.

The only officers saved are the first and second officers, and the third engineer.

Several passengers saw the submarine when it was 200 yards away, and some thought it was a whale.

It kept pace with the Lusitania for fully a minute before it fired the torpedo.

A second torpedo struck the liner four minutes later, and the vessel toppled over.

The boats on the port side were full of women and children, but the list prevented them being launched.

Practically all the occupants of the boats were drowned.

Passengers state that during the latter part of the voyage the Lusitania's course was frequently changed.

A member of the crew told a passenger that the vessel had dodged three submarines.

TWO WEEKS IN SAN FRANCISCO.

THE PANAMA-PACIFIC EXPOSITION
is now open. Forty-one Nations represented at the Exposition emphasises its International Character. It is the most colossal of Expositions the world has ever seen; and its interest to the man of business and to the tourist is something that may not be duplicated for many years. Like Niagara Falls, this great Exposition, which has taken years to prepare, cannot be adequately described, but we have literature on its wonders which will be sent to you on application.

SEVEN WEEKS IN ALL.
Approximately from Sydney to San Francisco and back occupies 7 weeks—5 at sea, 2 on shore. In these 2 weeks you can see the Exposition, the Yosemite Valley, the Grand Canyon, Rocky Mtns., etc. No other line has so fast a time-table: but our return tickets are interchangeable with the other trans-Pacific Companies. Our route is via Honolulu going; Honolulu and Samoa returning.

CHAPTER VIII.

A TIMELY WARNING.

Enid, not having seen the approach of the police, was completely at a loss to understand Bob's extraordinary conduct, and listened to the story in a maze of bewilderment and without a thought that the grotesque pantomime was meant only to hoodwink the men who were now within earshot.

Bob did it well, his exaggerated burlesque of the American manner and drawl being intentional. "Wa'al, the whole show was busted," he concluded, with a noisy laugh. "You try and size it up. See here," and he held his hands up, and, as if to make the matter plainer, he moved close enough to her to be able to whisper hurriedly, "Police; going to stop us."

Enid understood. She was greatly alarmed, but played up to him and began to laugh, doing her best to put a nasal twang into her voice, as they turned to walk on.

The two men blocked the way, and one of them addressed Bob. "One moment, if you please, m'sieur," he said.

"How's that? What does he say?" asked Bob, turning to Enid.

"What is it?" she asked.

"I must ask your names and address and where you come from."

"What does he say?" repeated Bob with sharp impatience.

She told him in English. He had seen enough already to feel confident that the man had understood English and for his benefit he burst out into a tirade of vehement indignation. "Tell him, Sadie; tell him; and don't forget to add that we've been all over Europe, and that it's only in this dodgasted country of his that Silas Wegelin and his sister can't walk about without being held up by the darned police for their names. Gee wiz! It's an almighty tall order if a citizen of the United States can't take a squint at the old Castle of Fontenoy without being bailed up in this fashion. Bust me, if it ain't."

Enid took the cue, and was translating so much of this tirade as she could remember, when the man who had understood it all interrupted her. He was satisfied, and with a "Pardon, m'sieur et mademoiselle," drew aside.

"What in thunder does he want now?" almost shouted Bob. "Say, Sadie, I don't size all this bobbery up a little bit. But I do know that our people at the Embassy won't stand for it."

"He only means we can go on," exclaimed Enid.

"Oh, that's a sight different. I wish I knew the dago's darned lingo, I'd tell him——"

"There's no need for that," she interposed, and walked on, followed by Bob, who uttered loud threats about the Embassy, and turned once or twice to glare back at the two men who were laughing together at the little scene. But his purpose was to make sure they were not followed.

"I'm sorry for this," he said to Enid as he caught her up.

"You know a great deal more English than you led me to suppose," she answered; "and a good deal about Americans."

"I know the usual French caricature of Americans; besides, I've been in the States. But I wouldn't have had you mixed up in this for anything. All the same, I thank you heartily. You probably saved me from being arrested."

"Have not you saved me from anything? Do you think I ought not to have thought of that?"

"That's different altogether. You may be compromised."

"How?"

"If that car is found soon, and these men meet any of the others who came after me and begin to compare notes about our description, there may easily be trouble and questions asked."

"I don't think I shall have much difficulty in answering them. They would scarcely take me for one of Gaudin's band, surely."

"It'll be difficult to tell the truth. When you tell them you were shut up in the villa and try to explain how you escaped, they'll have recognised me, and the fat'll be in the fire."

"Possibly when I tell them anything about it," she said significantly.

"I understand," he replied. "Do you know why you were taken there?"

"I haven't an idea. I suppose that Margaret Gendall's friends had left, and that awful man, Gaudin, or Pincette, as he first called himself, had taken it. I simply told him who I was, and now I remember noticing a change in his manner when I mentioned my uncle, Mr. Cracroft. But I hadn't a suspicion at the time that anything was wrong. He said he knew where Margaret was, and I went with him readily to a flat in the Rue les Gambrelles. I was there three days in the charge of that terrible old woman. Oh, the horror of those days," she exclaimed shuddering.

"And then?" asked Bob.

"I did not see him again until the day he took me to Chatillon. He said my cousin was lying dangerously ill there and had asked for me. I thought nothing could be worse than I had already endured, and that I might possibly escape on the way. But I think I had been drugged. You know how I was treated there. To-day, when he first came, he told me the truth—that he was Gaudin—not Pincette—and that I was to be kept a prisoner until my uncle sent him a thousand pounds. And he made me write a letter that my life was in danger if the money was not sent at once. Then he said he would take me to some other place in a low quarter of the city, where his friends would know how to treat me. Then you came," she concluded hurriedly, intentionally avoiding all mention of his first treatment of her. "You wouldn't have had me get you into the hands of the police after that, surely?"

"Well the account is balanced now at any rate," he replied hot with indignation at her story.

"No, no. Not by a long way. But I do want to do something to—to try and balance it. I want you to—to let me help you in some way."

"I'm afraid you can't do that."

"Why not? It can't be too late," she replied nervously. "You're so clever at your trade; you seem to know so much; and you're so—so different from——. Oh, I don't know how to put it. But I'm sure that if you had a chance of earning your living honestly—I mean in some different and better way, you could. Oh, I do so wish to help you."

She was so gentle, so solicitous, so timid in making the suggestion, so earnest and sincere, that he was deeply touched and at a loss for a reply.

"It may be, perhaps—some day," he said after a pause.

"But why put it off? Why not at once? Think what the consequences would have been if the police had arrested you just now?"

"I am thinking more of the consequences to you," he said quite truly.

"But you ought to think of yourself. Your future. Why not leave the country and make a fresh start where you are not known. Even if you only came to England I——"

"Your pardon, but I can't let you say any more. I can't explain why, and you must not ask me any questions because my lips are sealed and I cannot answer them. I'm not likely to forget what you've said nor the gentle motive which inspires your words. But we must leave it there."

"If you came to England I could get you work. My friends——"

"We part here, if you please," he said abruptly. They had reached a busy street, and he hailed a taxi.

"But I owe you so much," she said, hesitating. "I can't bear to think——"

"Please," he protested again. "You owe me nothing that cannot be easily paid."

"But you won't let me. I would do anything."

"One thing is to lose no time in leaving Paris."

"You only say that on my account. But it is you I want to think of."

"I'm afraid you cannot do anything for me unless——" he paused, looking at her steadily—"unless you would not be ashamed to take my hand."

"Ashamed," she cried with a flush of protest. "After what you've done. But I make a condition," she added as she held out her hand. "You must promise to remember what I have said and try to do what I asked."

"I am not likely to forget," he replied as their hands touched.

Then he closed the door and stood back, raising his hat as she drove off. He stood bareheaded, looking after her for a while, and then hurried away in the direction of the little hotel where he had stayed while at Issy.

His thoughts were all of Enid; her beauty, her gentle thoughtfulness, the nervous earnest timidity with which she had urged him to better things, and the deep sympathy in her eyes at the moment of parting.

Her cab was not out of sight before he was cursing his folly in not letting the wager go hang, and telling her who he was, and that all her care and anxiety on his account had been won from her by fraud. More than once he stopped to retrace his steps, resolved to go to her hotel in the Rue Plassy and tell her the truth.

But each time the thought of possible complications and trouble on the part of the police checked him. She had helped him to bamboozle the men at the Barrier; and if any inquiries were set on foot and they were found together the consequences might be exceedingly compromising for her.

It was better to let things simmer down and wait until he could see her in England, he concluded, and went on his way.

LAW REPORT.

IN BANCO.

(Before the Chief Justice, Mr. Justice Gordon, and Mr. Justice Ferguson.)

APPEAL AGAINST A VERDICT.

Prattis v Bexley Council.

Mr. Wade, K.C., and Mr. Mann, instructed by Messrs. J. A. I. Perry, Dent, and Co., appeared for the council of the Municipality of Bexley in support of the appeal; and Mr. Kelynack and Mr. Monahan, instructed by Messrs. Harold T. Morgan and Morgan, for the plaintiff, to oppose. The action, which was brought on behalf of Charles William Prattis, a boy, aged 13, was tried in March last, before Mr. Justice Sly and a jury of four. Plaintiff sued defendant council to recover compensation for injuries sustained by him in August last through the fall of the jib of a crane belonging to the defendants, owing, as he contended, to the negligence of the council or their servants. There was also a count charging nuisance. Particulars of plaintiff's case have already been given. The jury had returned a verdict for the plaintiff, with damages £350, and defendants now moved to set aside the verdict, and enter a nonsuit or a verdict for defendants, or in the alternative for a new trial, on the ground that the verdict was against evidence, and for other reasons which were published when the case was argued.

The Chief Justice (Mr. Justice Gordon and Mr. Justice Ferguson concurring) said that plaintiff charged defendants with leaving the crane in such a condition on the side of a road along which children were known to pass in going to and from school that they could play with it, and incur a liability to injury. The question was whether the defendants had sufficiently protected them from such a liability. The principle upon which cases of the kind were settled was very well stated in the case of Cook v Midland Great Western Railway of Ireland (1909 A.C.). Although the evidence went to show that in February the council secured the crane with a padlock and chain, it became, sometime after that date, in a dangerous state owing to the padlock having been broken. It was, according to the evidence, left in that dangerous condition; and the defendants should have known of and remedied it. If the Court could say that the verdict was unreasonable, it would be its duty to set it aside, but the Court could not so find. The crane had been allowed to remain on the road side, and, though at one time the council fastened it securely, it was afterwards allowed to get into such a condition as to become dangerous to children who manipulated it. The appeal on the ground of the unreasonableness of the verdict must, therefore, fail, and as the Court was of opinion that the case was carefully and properly placed before the jury by his Honor, the verdict could not be upset on that ground. It was not necessary to consider the question of nuisance as there was no evidence specifically on that count.

Appeal dismissed with costs.

(Before the Chief Justice, Mr. Justice Sly, and Mr. Justice Gordon.)

TROUBLE OVER SHARES.

Stephenson v Tate and another.

Mr. Broomfield and Mr. Pickburn, instructed by Messrs. Perkins, Stevenson, and Co., appeared for the defendants, who appealed against the verdict; and Mr. E. M. Mitchell and Mr. P. Halse Rogers, instructed by Messrs. Mark Mitchell and Forsyth, for the plaintiff in support of the verdict. The action, which was tried before Mr. Justice Ferguson and a jury of four in March last, was brought by John Eric Stephenson against Herbert Tate, managing director, and Cecil Tate, assistant managing director, of the Stanmore Preserving Company, Ltd., to recover compensation for neglect to register 100 fully paid up shares in the company, which had been issued to him by the defendants. Mr. Broomfield, in stating the case, said that plaintiff had been overseeing manufacturer in the company, which carried on business in preserving fruit and manufacturing jam, and during his employment the company were using a solution for the purpose of sealing their cans or tins. In February, 1913, he went to New Zealand, and upon his return in April of the same year he informed defendant, Herbert Tate, that he had discovered a new solution for sealing. After some bargaining it was agreed by the defendants that they would purchase the solution from plaintiff for 100 fully paid-up shares in the company, and an increase of plaintiff's salary, and the shares were subsequently issued to the plaintiff. That was in May, and the whole matter in dispute was what passed between the parties at that time. Plaintiff contended that he was at liberty to use the scrip unfettered in any way; that the scrip was to be registered in his name at once, and that he was to be in the position of an ordinary shareholder. The contention of the defendants, however, was that the scrip was issued subject to the condition that the agreement was not to take effect until January 1, 1914, and that therefore plaintiff was not to become a shareholder until that date. Defendants denied their liability, and contradicted the case as stated by plaintiff. The jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff, with damages £100, on the second and third counts of the plaintiff's amended declaration, and for the defendants on the first and fourth. Defendants now asked that the verdict should be set aside, and a nonsuit or a verdict for the defendants entered, or that a new trial should be ordered, on the grounds, among others, that the verdict and special findings were against evidence and the weight of evidence, and that his Honor should have entered a nonsuit or a verdict for defendants for various reasons: that plaintiff, having failed to reveal to the Stanmore Preserving Company, Ltd., a secret sealing solution, never became entitled to be registered; that his Honor should not have told the jury that the plaintiff had no remedy against the Stanmore Preserving Company, Ltd.; that plaintiff never was entitled to be registered as a member in respect of the shares, and his Honor should have so directed the jury; and that plaintiff was not entitled to more than nominal damages on either of the counts.

The case is part heard.

Evidence was concluded, and addresses of counsel were entered upon.

(Before Mr. Justice Harvey.)

AN EPPING SUBDIVISION.

Important Application by Registrar-General.

Argument was concluded in the special case, stated at the instance of the Registrar-General, under section 123 of the Real Property Act, for directions as to what he was to do with respect to certain applications for the transfer of certain allotments in a subdivision of land at Epping, the registered proprietors of which were Conrad Machens, a merchant, residing at Hildesheim, in Germany, and Martin Frederick Vollmer, a naturalised British subject, residing at Epping, near Sydney.

His Honor reserved his decision.

Mr. Bethune and Mr. Peden, instructed by the Crown Solicitor (Mr. J. V. Tillett), appeared for the Registrar-General; and Mr. Maurice E. Price for Alma William White, attorney under a power of attorney from Conrad Machens; and also for Machens and Vollmer, the registered proprietors of the land, which was known as the Railway Estate Subdivision.

EXCHANGE OF COUNTRY PROPERTIES.

Foy v McLeish.

Evidence was concluded, and addresses of counsel were entered upon.

PROBATE COURT.

(Before Mr. Justice Street.)

LATE MR. D. J. MONK'S ESTATE.

Application for Revocation of Probate.

This was a suit, instituted by Augustus Frederick Monk, of Yanco, farmer, and Elizabeth Patience Monk, of Woollahra, spinster (an insane patient within the meaning of the Lunacy Act), by the Master in Lunacy on her behalf, who prayed that probate of the will of their late father, David Joseph Monk, which had been granted to his widow, the defendant, Margaret Maria Monk, on November 24 last, should be revoked and declared null and void, and that it be declared that the deceased died intestate.

Mr. Knox, K.C., Mr. Shand, K.C., and Mr. Bethune, instructed by Mr. J. A. Thompson, appeared for the plaintiffs; and Mr. Loxton, K.C., and Mr. Davidson, instructed by Mr. W. C. Clegg, for the defendant.

Plaintiffs set out in their statement of claim that their father, David Joseph Monk, who had been a vinegar manufacturer, carrying on business in Sydney, died at his residence, Kenilworth Lodge, Wallis-street, Woollahra, on September 13 last. Testator left a paper, dated August 2, 1913, which purported to be his last will and testament, and purporting to appoint his wife (the defendant) sole executrix and trustee. The document further purported to have been executed by the deceased in the presence of W. C. Clegg, solicitor, of Sydney, and his clerk, Herbert R. Palser. On or about November 24 last probate of the alleged will was granted to the defendant. Plaintiffs were the only children of the deceased by his former marriage; and Elizabeth Patience Monk was up to March 24, 1888, and for several years prior thereto, and again on December 29, 1914, she became, and was still, an insane patient. The defendant had three children by the testator, viz., Hypatia Adams (wife of William Adams, a Civil servant), Sesostris David Joseph Monk, a private in one of the Australian expeditionary forces; and Boadicea Monk, who, with the plaintiffs, were the whole of the next of kin of the deceased. Plaintiffs submitted that probate should be revoked on the grounds that the deceased at the time of the execution of the alleged will was not of sound mind, memory, and understanding; and that he did not know and approve of its contents. They did not know of the existence of any other document executed by the deceased as his will or codicil thereto.

The defence was that the document of August 2, 1913, had been duly executed, as required by law. It was denied that the deceased at the time the alleged will was executed was not of sound mind, memory, and understanding, and that he did not know and approve of its contents.

By the alleged will the testator appointed his wife sole executrix and trustee, and devised and bequeathed to her the whole of his real and personal property absolutely. In the document, the testator stated he had every confidence that his wife would make suitable provision for his five children.

The New South Wales estate was valued for probate purposes at about £110,000.

The suit stands part heard.

VICE-ADMIRALTY COURT.

CLAIM FOR COMMISSION.

Davis v Australian Steamships, Ltd.

In this suit, brought by plaintiff against defendants to recover compensation for damage done to the tug Federal in collision with the steamer Konoowarra in the Parramatta River, argument was concluded, and judgment was reserved.

IN BANKRUPTCY.

(Before the Registrar, Mr. F. H. Salusbury.)

HEARING OF CREDITOR'S PETITION.

Charles Binnie v William Thomas. Mr. Chandler, of Messrs. Minter, Simpson, and Co., appeared for the petitioning creditor. An order sequestrating the estate was made, Mr. C. F. W. Lloyd being appointed official assignee.

CERTIFICATE APPLICATIONS.

Re John Galpine. Adjourned to June 21.

Re Arthur Irwin King and George Clarke, ex parte George Clarke. Adjourned to May 17.

Re Arthur Thompson. After hearing the report of the official assignee and the bankrupt's affidavit in reply, the Registrar suspended the certificate for two years.

Re William Standerwick Cox. The Registrar said he was satisfied that the bankrupt continued to trade and obtained credit to the amount of £50 or upwards after knowing himself to be insolvent, and that he contracted debts without having at the time any reasonable or probable ground of expectation of being able to pay them. The application was refused.

Re Joseph William Williams. A certificate was ordered to issue, subject to a nominal suspension of one day.

Re Walter Balfour Dawes. Adjourned to May 25.

HEARING OF PROOFS OF DEBT.

Sydney Birt Carrick and H. G. Lott v Alfred Joseph Carruthers. In these matters, which were claims on behalf of Carrick and Lott against Carruthers for alleged wrongful dismissal, the Registrar said that when the matter was last before the Court he held that the proofs were admissible, and he reserved his decision as to the amount. The question to be decided was—what was the amount of damages the creditors were entitled to? Under all the circumstances, he thought the damages would be fairly assessed by allowing Carrick 12 months' wages at £3 12s a week, from January 15, 1916, and allowing Lott 12 months' wages at £4 a week, the total sums so payable to be reducible in each case by the amount of wages actually received by each during the 12 months from fresh employment. Carrick would, therefore, be entitled to prove for £187 4s, less wages received from fresh employment; and Lott £208, less wages received from fresh employment. The Registrar ordered that accurate accounts of wages received must be kept by each creditor and certified and produced to the official assignee when required by him.

Mr. Maxwell, instructed by Mr. Greaves, appeared for the claimants.

SINGLE MEETINGS AND PUBLIC EXAMINATIONS.

Re William Cooper. Adjourned to May 5.

Re John M. Juleff. Adjourned to May 25.

OXIDISED CEILING FITTINGS.

P. F. Light and Co., Ltd., v Humphreys, Ltd.

Mr. Perry, instructed by Mr. J. W. Abigail, appeared for P. F. Light and Co., Ltd., of Sussex-street, Sydney, in an action in which plaintiffs claimed £32 6s from Humphreys, Ltd., electrical and gas-fittings importers, of Macquarie-place, Sydney, alleged to be due in connection with the sale of certain oxidised ceiling fittings, supplied by plaintiffs to the order of the defendant company, who were contractors for certain work at the Conservatorium of Music in Government House grounds.

Mr. Markell, instructed by Mr. J. A. Thompson, appeared for the defendants, who pleaded never indebted, and that plaintiffs were not ready and willing to deliver the goods according to the terms of the contract.

His Honor found a verdict for the plaintiffs for £2 12s, and gave judgment for the defendants in respect of the balance of the claim.

CENTRAL CRIMINAL COURT.

(Before Acting Justice Docker and a jury.)

Mr. Herbert Harris, Crown Prosecutor.

DEATH SENTENCE RECORDED.

James Richard Walton, 22, horse trainer, was charged with a serious offence at Bingara on November 25 last year.

Mr. Chubb, instructed by Mr. R. J. Farrell, Bingara, appeared for the accused, who gave evidence on his own behalf.

Accused was found guilty, but was recommended to mercy on account of his previous good character.

Death sentence was recorded.

SENTENCES.

Robert George Boyce, two charges of stealing, was sentenced upon the first count to two years' imprisonment in Goulburn Gaol; and upon the second count to 12 months' imprisonment in Goulburn Gaol, to commence at the expiration of the first sentence, in lieu of penal servitude.

Charles Atterton, and Leslie Winson Morley, conspiracy to defraud, each 12 months' imprisonment with hard labour in Goulburn Gaol.

QUARTER SESSIONS.

(Before Judge Backhouse and a jury.)

Mr. R. J. Browning, Crown Prosecutor.

CHARGE OF EMBEZZLEMENT.

Albert Ernest Nye, 33, was charged with embezzling 3s 4d from his employer, Ernest James Pilcher, baker, of Burwood. There were two other counts involving the amounts of 12s 3d and £520.

Accused pleaded guilty to the first charge, and not guilty to the other two. Mr. Boyce appeared for the accused.

Mr. Boyce asked that the accused should be treated as a first offender, as his employer was prepared to re-employ him.

His Honor put Mr. Pilcher in the witness box, and he stated that he was willing to re-employ Nye if compensation to the amount of £100 was paid in weekly instalments of 5s.

Accused was sentenced to two years' imprisonment, but was released under First Offenders Act, in recognisances of £100, and sureties for the payment of the compensation.

POSTPONED.

Two young men, Michael Gibbons and John Thompson, were charged with breaking and entering the warehouse of the Bacchus Marsh Milk Company, Ltd., Sydney, on February 27, and stealing therefrom 20 boxes of condensed milk. Mr. E. R. Abigail appeared for Gibbons.

Mr. Browning asked that, owing to an important witness for the defence being unable to attend, that the case be postponed.

ACQUITTED.

William Kenyon and Charles Laurie were charged with stealing ½cwt of nickel salts, 12 brass cocks, and other goods from the Australian Patent Lamp Company, Limited, Sydney, between January 3 and February 6.

The Crown case disclosed that information was given to the manager of the company where the accused were employed by another employee named Weaver, which led to the arrest of the accused. Weaver said that, acting under instructions from the accused, he disposed of the goods to a second-hand dealer.

The Crown Prosecutor stated that he was unable to produce any corroborative evidence regarding Weaver's statement that would connect him as an accomplice in the matter.

His Honor told the jury that although they could, if they wished, convict the accused on Weaver's evidence, it was his duty to warn them that it would be dangerous to do so.

Weaver admitted in the witness-box that he had stolen a sovereign from a former employer.

The jury intimated that they intended to acquit the accused, and they were discharged.

REMANDED FOR SENTENCE.

James M'Farlane was charged with assaulting Frederick James Askell, in Phillip-street, Sydney, on April 1, with violence, and robbing him of £4 and a cheque for £2. The accused was defended by Mr. Carter Smith.

The accused denied the charge. He was, however, found guilty, and remanded for sentence.

SENTENCES.

William Foy, 20, maliciously wounding, was sentenced to 12 months' imprisonment, but his Honor said that if he could find securities for his good behaviour for 12 months, he would recommend his release on license, after some time.

MUNICIPAL APPEAL COURT.

(Before Judge Murray.)

KENSINGTON GOLF LINKS.

The appeal on behalf of the Kensington Golf Links, Ltd., against the assessments by the Randwick Council in respect of 174 acres of land within the municipality, was mentioned. Mr. A. J. McLachlan, of Messrs. McLachlan and Murray, appeared for the appellants; and Mr. J. C. J. Ryan for the Randwick Council.

It appeared that the council's valuator assessed the unimproved capital value of the golf link property at £200 per acre, which amounted to £34,800; while the appellants contended that it was excessive.

It was stated that a settlement had been arrived at, the council's assessment being reduced to £165 an acre, representing an unimproved capital value of £28,792, or a rental value of £1440 per annum.

TRAM DEPOT ROBBERY.

Mr. Robison appeared to prosecute on behalf of the Crown, and Mr. H. M'Intosh for the accused.

Detective Leary stated that he examined the door of the depot master's office, Rushcutter Bay, but could find no marks of any forcible entry having been made.

Evidence was given that the money was last seen at 2 o'clock on Sunday morning, and its disappearance was discovered at 9 o'clock on Monday morning.

Robert Sidney Schofield, receiving clerk at the depot, stated that he was on duty from 5 o'clock on Saturday night, April 17, to 2 o'clock on Sunday morning. Before leaving he placed the key of the revenue room, the strongroom, and the safe, in a sealed envelope, addressed to accused, and handed them to a man in the electric department. Witness counted the money before putting it away in a box in the safe. A driver helped to carry the money to the safe, and Constable Post was also present. Before leaving he switched on the burglar alarm, which would give the alarm if anyone stood on the mat in front of the strong room door.

The further hearing was adjourned.

POLICE COURTS.

NOT LEGALLY QUALIFIED.

£50 FINE.

J. L. Elmore, of Culwulla-chambers, at the Central Police Court yesterday, pleaded guilty to a charge that, not being a legally qualified medical practitioner, he had signed a certificate implying that he was so qualified. Sergeant Macintosh produced a certificate signed by the defendant "J. L. Elmore, M.D." On the door of his place of business were the words "Dr. J. L. Elmore."

The defendant stated that he had had a medical training and he put "M.D." to his name to convey that meaning. He told every patient that he practised as an herbalist only.

Mr. Barnett, S.M., imposed a fine of £50, in default six months' imprisonment with hard labour. One month was allowed to pay the fine.

"ALARMING REPORTS."

FIRST CASE IN SYDNEY.

The first case in Sydney involving a charge of attempting to spread alarming reports was heard before Mr. Smithers, S.M., at the Water Police Court yesterday.

Frank William Bruhn, 26, who was stated to be an Englishman, and John Simon, 45, stated to be a Frenchman, were charged with, by bringing into the Commonwealth letters and other written communications from Germany and elsewhere, attempting to spread in writing reports likely to cause alarm among the civil population of the Commonwealth.

The two accused pleaded not guilty.

Mr. H. E. Manning, who appeared for the Crown, said that the case had only come under the notice of the authorities last Saturday, and he would ask for a remand until Friday. The offence, if proved, he went on to say, was punishable by imprisonment for life. It was an offence against one of the regulations made under the Statute, which states:—"No person shall by word of mouth or in writing spread reports likely to cause disaffection or alarm among any of His Majesty's forces or the Commonwealth forces, or among the civilian population."

The case alleged against the two accused was that they brought into New South Wales certain communications from Germany and other places, continued Mr. Manning, which were calculated to cause alarm. It had been done in a surreptitious fashion, concealed in one of the vessels arriving in the port. He asked that bail be not granted.

The magistrate granted the remand, and refused bail.

VACCINATION.

EFFICACY IN EPIDEMIC DISEASE.

AN OFFICIAL INQUIRY.

The members of the Victorian Parliamentary special committee to inquire into the efficacy of vaccination began its sittings at Sydney Parliament House yesterday. The committee consists of Messrs. A. R. Outtrim, M.L.A. (chairman), J. R. Jewell, M.L.A., and A. Gray, M.L.A., of the Victorian Parliament. Mr. W. Kennedy Smith, M.L.A., was also present.

In welcoming the visiting Parliamentarians, Mr. H. S. Harvey, secretary to the Citizens' Protest Committee against compulsory vaccination, Sydney, said that committee had been waiting for such an inquiry for two years. Professor Welsh, of Sydney University, had in an article in the "Australian Medical Gazette," denounced the "savage butchery" inflicted on the people of Sydney by vaccination during the smallpox outbreak.

The first witness was John Stuart Helm, a South African sugar planter. He said smallpox was always more or less prevalent in South Africa among the Kaffirs and Indians. His experience had proved, he said, that white people very rarely contracted the disease from the coloured races. As a result of his experiences spread over many years he was decidedly opposed to vaccination. He gave several instances of serious and permanent physical disabilities arising from vaccination on men and women who had apparently been in a perfectly healthy condition prior to vaccination.

Dr. Paton, Director-General of Public Health in New South Wales, said that vaccination was the only way to stop smallpox. "You might just as well try to stop a bullet," he said, "as to try to stop smallpox by sanitary precautions alone." Germany, he said, had practically stamped out smallpox by vaccination and re-vaccination. During the recent Sydney outbreak, none who had been vaccinated within a few days of exposure to the disease had contracted it. He had asked the city coroner to hold an exhaustive inquiry into the circumstances of all deaths occurring after vaccination. There had been several inquiries with quite a negative result. One remarkable instance of the efficacy of vaccination became apparent in connection with the workings of the staffs of the Board of Health. Out of nearly 100 members of the staff, all of whom were brought into close contact with smallpox patients, in the quarantine area, and in the nursing of patients, removal of contacts, and disinfecting of affected areas, only one man had contracted smallpox, and that was the only one of the staffs who had managed to evade the general regulation to become vaccinated.

Nurse Alkin stated that she was practising at North Sydney when the epidemic broke out. She had always enjoyed the best of health, and doctors used often to remark on her appearance. She was vaccinated, and had been very ill ever since. Her weight had been reduced from 9st to 5st 10½lb. She could not walk without two sticks, and was thus absolutely crippled.

Several other witnesses stated that they had suffered very much from vaccination.

Mr. Siddins, grocer, of Marrickville, told the commission of the death of his son, aged 25, who died three days after vaccination, although he had never been ill in his life before. A certificate of death from apoplexy was given, but the witness was sure it was the result of vaccination.

The commission adjourned till to-day.

THE METHODISTS.

WORK OF CENTRAL MISSION.

The thirty-first anniversary of the Central Methodist Mission was celebrated at the Town Hall last night by a tea and public meeting. The chair was occupied by Mr. E. Vickery. The choir was conducted by Mr. W. I. R. Mote, Mr. H. Smith was leader of the orchestra, and Mr. L. C. Mote organist.

The chairman said there never was a time in the world's history when the Bible was of greater moment and the preaching of the Gospel more necessary than now.

The Rev. Joseph Woodhouse, President of the Methodist Conference, said they were all full of the knowledge and horror of the war, realising in themselves some of its agonies, and trying to realise some of the sorrows of those who had been bereaved. How could they speak of peace when they thought of those things? No, they must carry forward this fight to a finish, until the spirit of Prussianism had been destroyed. (Applause.)

The Rev. Henry Howard, of Adelaide, said he looked upon the mission as a symbol of power for good in the community. No one could read the report without having feelings of admiration for what had been accomplished.

The Rev. S. J. Hoban, the new C.M.M. Superintendent, was cordially welcomed.

Addresses were delivered by the Rev. P. J. Stephen, the Rev. W. Woolls Rutledge, and Mr. G. J. Waterhouse.

The Rev. W. G. Taylor announced that the collections and promises for the week had reached £1500.

LIABILITY OF COMPANIES.

A case, the first of its kind, and of interest to persons concerned in the management of companies, came before Mr. Macfarlane, S.M., at the Central Police Court yesterday. The Ryde Newspaper Company, Ltd., was charged by Sergeant Watson with not filing with the Registrar of Joint Stock Companies a printed copy of a resolution, passed on December 18, 1912, winding up the company.

The defendant company, for which Mr. Dash appeared, pleaded guilty.

Mr. W. K. Stewart, of the Crown Law Office, stated that the resolution passed by the defendant company was filed as late as April 12, 1915—463 days after it was due, and then only after repeated reminders. The penalty imposed by the Act was £2 for every day in default, which would bring the liability up to £926.

The magistrate imposed a fine of 2s 6d for each day's default, which amounted to £11 15s.

BOGUS SERGEANT.

IMPOSES ON WELL KNOWN LADY.

John Thomas M'Donald, 34, was charged at the North Sydney Police Court yesterday with having obtained £1 from Alice Georgina Partridge by means of a false pretence.

Mrs. Partridge said her husband was manager for Tooth's Brewery. She resided at Kurraba Point, Neutral Bay. On March 12 accused came to the house dressed in khaki, and told her he was Sergeant Smith, of Liverpool, out on 36 hours' leave, and was going to sail with the Expeditionary Force in a week. He went on to say his mother was ill at Albury, and he wanted to visit her by train that evening. Mr. Partridge, whom he said he knew well, was not at the brewery, so he asked witness to lend him £1 to help pay the fare to Albury. He added that he had worked at the brewery, and enlisted from there. Witness gave him a sovereign.

Evidence was given to show that accused never had worked at the brewery.

Accused pleaded guilty, and Inspector Fullerton told the Court that accused had been discharged from the Expeditionary Force last October.

M'Donald was sentenced to a month in gaol.

BREAD.

INCREASE IN RETAIL PRICE SOUGHT.

COMPLAINTS OF BAKERS.

The Master Bakers' Association of New South Wales yesterday made an application to the Necessary Commodities Control Commission (Mr. Justice Edmunds, president) to increase the price of bread to 4½d per 2lb loaf, on the ground that the proclaimed price of 4d per loaf as recently fixed by the commission was not a living price, and that bakers were accordingly running their businesses at a loss.

The application was opposed by Mr. Bathgate, of the Crown Law Department, who appeared on behalf of the Attorney-General. Mr. W. Dyer, president of the Master Bakers' Association, represented the manufacturing interests.

Mr. Dyer stated that the chief reason of the application was the great increase in the price of horse-feed. The cost of keeping delivery horses had risen from 18s to 22s per head.

Turning to the work of the bakery, Mr. Dyer stated that the flour this year would not yield within 8 to 12 loaves per ton of what it did last year. The flour would neither absorb nor retain so much moisture. The millers were using chick wheat and other inferior grades in the mills, and grinding more thoroughly, leaving nothing in the offal, and this resulted in an inferior product to the normal hard wheat flour, with a consequent loss to the baker. This was shown by the evaporation in the ovens, the bread having to be greatly overweighed to meet the "vagaries of the Weights and Measures Act inspectors."

In reply to his Honor, Mr. Dyer stated that the Government was not yet controlling the output of fancy bread. The weight varied greatly, but a 2oz margin was allowed.

In answer to Mr. Connington, Mr. Dyer said he thought the master bakers had suffered by the conditions arising out of the war to a greater extent than the farmer, who was forced to sell his wheat at a lower rate than his confreres in the other States, or the working classes, who were contending with unemployment, loss of wages, and the suspension of awards dealing with the increase of wages.

Mr. Moore, commissioner, said that it appeared extraordinary to him that the Melbourne bakers, who were paying £17 5s per ton for their flour, were able to sell at the same price as the Sydney bakers, who were paying only £11 17s 6d per ton.

Mr. Dyer stated that the price of bread in Melbourne was 5d and 5½d per loaf, but Melbourne bakers had always been in a position to sell at a rate of ½d per 2lb loaf lower than those in Sydney. That was not to say they made much out of it. A large co-operative concern had recently shown enormous loss by selling at the ruling prices. Adelaide bakers were buying flour at £18 and £18 5s per ton, and selling at 5½d per loaf. The wives and families of the smaller bakers in Sydney were having to work in the bakery to keep things going. If the commission could not grant an all-round increase, they hoped the bakers outside a seven-mile radius of the Post Office would benefit to the extent of ½d per loaf. This was where the wear and tear on horseflesh and vehicles was so great.

Mr. Horace Holder, an Enmore baker, submitted a return showing that his average loss per ton of flour used in general business for the last three months was 8s 2d.

Mr. Francis Gartrell, Redfern and North Sydney, stated that his average total manufacturing costs on a ton of flour was £22 14s 8d. His sales based on an average of 1320 loaves per ton at 3.92 pence per loaf, amounted to £21 5s 10d, or a loss of 19s 10d per ton of flour handled. The items taken into account at a rate per ton were:—Flour, £11 18s 5d, wages £5 5s 6d, materials 13s 2d, repairs and maintenance 8s 7d, water rates, E.R. 3s 7d, fuel, etc., 9s 6d, packing 1s 7d, depreciation at 10 per cent., 10s 3d, horses and harness 16s 10d, office expenses 6s 6d, insurance 1s 1d, interest on capital at 6 per cent £1.

His Honor said that investors could hardly expect that the rates of interest prevailing in normal times could exist now. He was not questioning Mr. Gartrell's figures, but he was very glad to find that capital could be protected at 6 per cent.

Mr. Gartrell, continuing, stated that, in his opinion, the trade had overestimated the output of loaves per ton. He doubted if the average exceeded 1290 loaves. An allowance of 4oz per loaf was made on the automatic weighing machine to meet the evaporation. The yield from the flour was not so good this year owing to the paucity of gluten. He admitted having made good profits in the past, but he knew of only one master baker who had retired on the profits of his business. Very few bakers possessed private motor cars.

The hearing of further evidence was adjourned until 2 p.m. to-day, when it is expected that the commission's decision will be announced.

This morning, at 10 o'clock, the commission will inquire into the wholesale and retail selling prices of tea, jam, and matches.

ON THE LAND.

FARM AND STATION.

VITICULTURE.

At the annual meeting of the South Australian Vinegrowers' Association, Mr. H. E. Laffer, viticultural instructor at Roseworthy College, referred to the effects of the drought on the vines. His remarks should be of direct interest to vignerons in some of our districts where drought has ruled. In some parts of this State much the same conditions have operated in the vineyards as in South Australia, and presumably growers are confronted with the same problems. Experienced men will allow for the peculiar conditions surrounding their own case. As regards South Australia Mr. Laffer pointed out that growers were faced with the knowledge that they had very little pruning wood at their disposal. The question to decide was how to best handle what was available.

He thought they could roughly divide the vines into rod-pruned and spur-pruned varieties. The chief and immediate aim must be to "bring the vines back," so that in 1916 growers would be able to secure a fair growth, and thus build up a fruit crop again. In the case of the spur-pruned sorts, the spurs must be shortened back to one bud, or, on the other hand, they would have to do away with a certain quantity of the permanent wood. That raised the question whether the vineyards were not carrying too much permanent wood. Mr. Laffer was inclined to believe that they were depending too much upon the permanent wood in the framework of their vines, especially where they had them trained as espaliers and cordons. There was every probability that, in the course of years, owing to the harshness of the sun's heat and accompanying conditions, the flow of sap along those extended permanent main arms became considerably restricted. It would be well for them to ponder whether it would be more advantageous to build up their vines in a compact form, and prune more for annual rods, or to favour those long arms, covered at intervals with secondary arms, supporting the fruitbearing wood. It had been found in Victoria that it paid best to have shorter main arms, and put big annual rods on them.

It depended entirely upon the character of the the season, but if the rainfall proved to be normal or abnormal, then, notwithstanding the weak growth at present, Mr. Laffer thought they could confidently count upon gathering a crop. The buds were buds whether they were weak or strong. With a heavy and suitably distributed precipitation they might even obtain a very good crop. He pointed out that during the recent vintage there had been brought under his notice several instances of vines bearing on the water shoots. Normally, he said, they looked upon the water shoot as merely a means of increasing the cost of pruning. Lately, however, the fact had been borne home to him that the water shoot, under normal conditions, was one thing, but in a season like that through which they had just passed it was a totally different thing. Ordinarily the water shoot was an indication of excessive vigour in the vine, which utilised it as an outlet for that surplus energy. He doubted whether they placed sufficient value upon the water shoot, which, among other things, provided an exceedingly acceptable means of reconstructing vines that required such treatment. He strongly deprecated the practice of taking everything possible out of the vines in normal periods, and thus depriving them of the reserve powers which they should possess to enable them effectively to withstand harsh climatic conditions.

ENGLISH WOOL TRADE.

IS THE REACTION IN MERINOS NEAR?

(FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

BRADFORD, April 2.

To all in the Bradford industry, and to readers of this weekly letter, it must have been clear that for the last eight months or so considerably more business has been doing on forward account than for spot delivery. Every week we have quoted prices and talked of business doing for delivery weeks or months hence, and all through the trade orders have been taken to be executed at some future date. Everyone is alike, the Government has bought for delivery a long time hence, manufacturers have ordered yarns for delivery for a corresponding period, and topmakers have sold tops to be delivered, in some cases, next August and September, which is half a year after the date of booking the order. After these tops are delivered they will have to be spun, and the yarns woven into cloths, which shows how far ahead business is being booked.

The general feeling at the present time, both among spinners and topmakers, is to cease taking new business and work off commitments. There is a feeling of uneasiness growing, especially in regard to khaki materials, these being regarded as dangerous stock. At the present high values neither our own nor allied Governments will be inclined to buy for delivery next October, November, and December. It will be difficult indeed to buy for any earlier date, manufacturers being so well occupied, and the feeling is that the War Office will wait some time before placing new orders. At the present time they have big weights of cloth in hand, enough to satisfy them for a few months.

When orders are received firms cover them, the manufacturer buying the yarns he needs, the spinner covering these yarn sales in tops, and the topmaker covering his top sales in wool. That is the way the trade is conducted, and to-day most of the big orders that have been booked by the manufacturers are covered right down to the wool. Topmakers are getting full of wool, especially merinos. They are only waiting for the combs to transform them into tops. At the first sign of decline in London spinners' buying stopped. Their opinion was that the turning point had come, and things were going down-hill. There is no doubt about it that all but the best wools have been easier at the London sales, and this has weakened the confidence of spinners in the strength of Botany tops. A big consumption of merinos is proceeding, particularly in hosieries, but the tremendous orders placed in Leicester have mostly been covered, and a quieter buying period is undoubtedly coming, even if it has not already arrived. At the present time topmakers can sell 64's at 2/8 for spot delivery. They can buy wool to make them at half-a-crown, but cannot get that wool combed for a few months. Spinners likewise have a handsome working margin, considerably better than that of topmakers; in fact, in some cases it is 5d per lb. No doubt the first sign of weakness has shaken confidence a little. Still, we cannot see where any serious decline can take place in either wool or tops, and are looking hopefully forward to the future. Possibly the increasing heavy supplies of merinos may affect values a little, but that will depend a good deal upon how America shapes at the next series of London sales. They are credited with taking 5000 bales at the recent auctions, but it is doubtful if that quantity has been actually purchased.

CLOSE OF THE THIRD SERIES.

The third series of London sales closed half-way through this week, merino wools, excepting the very best classes, being quite 5 to 10 per cent. down. Crossbreds have made record prices. Greasy 46's have touched 20d, and 18d and 19d have been frequent prices. The next series will see a big weight of wool offered, and there is also talk of their being postponed to a week later. Bradford wool merchants and topmakers have bought heavily in merino wool at the previous series this year; they are receiving about as much direct imports as is being sold in London, and about a week after the Easter holidays they are asked to come back to London to lift another 210,000 bales.

TOPMAKERS SOLD OUT AND SPINNERS ON VELVET.

It is almost impossible to comprehend the amount of business that has been booked during the past few months. It has come out from all sides, both the home and foreign trades being eager buyers. At last those hard-worked individuals—topmakers' market men—have the chance of a good holiday, with no fear of custom falling off through their absence. Seeing that this week-end is Easter, some of them may decide to make a three days' vacation into a week. The majority of topmakers are in the same position. Usually it is the selling end that needs attention. To-day it is the producing end, most firms not being the least desirous of selling any more to deliver before the end of August. Many of the largest firms are booked up till then, and were it not for the desire to please their regular customers, they would not even take the few small orders they are now booking, but would close their books and concentrate their energies on working off their commitments.

In conditions like these, who is going to sell tops cheaper, even if wool becomes cheaper? Evidently only the less strongly situated firms, and those who always think, on hearing of the first farthing decline, that there will be a slump very soon.

At the present time machinery has as big a say in the matter of deciding top prices as the price of wool. Usually the price of wool and the demands of spinners settle the value of tops, but to-day the combing machinery is the narrow bottle neck through which the raw material must pass, it occupying a similar position in that respect to what the slubbing dyers did a few months ago. There was no doubt about medium and faulty merinos being cheaper at the third series of London sales, which closed two days ago, but very little has been heard of lower prices from topmakers. Good 64's are still selling at 2s 8d for spot delivery, and good makers will not sell for August at less than 2s 7½d. In fact, some of them have tops sold to deliver as far forward as September, and even a few in October at 2s 8½d, and have made 2s 7½d this week for Cape 64's, delivery in August. Crossbred makers are in just as strong a position, spinners being eager buyers for September and October delivery.

At to-day's wool prices growers must be wondering what fine profits topmakers are netting. If so, the spinners' story will be almost unbelievable. Certainly it is without parallel in recent years. At the first sign of an ease in fine wools in London they did their best to lever down topmakers' quotations, but only succeeded with very few. The other day a topmaker was taunting a spinner about the wide margin with which the latter was working at present, and said he could afford to pay 3s for 64's tops. The spinner replied that he could afford to pay even 3s 2d, which means that he is making 5d clear profit on every pound of stuff he sells. We have known spinners work at a loss, but to-day they are the best situated of any section of the trade as regards the profit their contracts show. No wonder Botany men only want to spin thick hosiery yarns, which absorb tops twice as fast as the ordinary fine two-folds and singles, which used to be their staple production before the war. These yarns to-day are hard to buy, only a few spinners producing them, and every fresh contract they take on is at a higher price. Khaki spinners are as busy as ever, their output being enormous. The price of khaki yarns, not necessarily the profit on them, has increased steadily since the war began. We should say that spinners engaged on hosiery and home civilian trade work are much better situated than khaki men. They are quite as busy, and are working with better profits. Whatever section of the trade he is in, the man with machinery is to-day making money; and the iron and steel maws that take such a lot of feeding at some times are dictating prices and coining gold for their owners at the present time.

THE BUTTER BUSINESS.

UNEXPECTED EVENTS ABROAD.

LONDON, April 1.

Quite the unexpected has been happening in the butter market of late. A fortnight ago everybody anticipated the Copenhagen quotation, which had been rapidly rising, would advance further by at least 4 to 5 kr., and some people expected more. Then when it was unchanged the week before last, anticipation was as confident as ever that the next few days would see the rise take place. Instead of that, the quotation was lowered three kr. Quotations in London, too, fell from 2/ to 6/ for most descriptions of butter. This week the market has been steady at the reduced price. Opinions are very much divided as to the immediate future of the market, but prices are considered high enough, and every day is bringing us nearer to spring. A good deal of butter will be coming forward shortly from Ireland, and from those counties in England where butter is manufactured. This is having a sentimental effect on the market. Against this, however, there is the fact that, as far as regards Australasian butter, the arrivals during April will be considerably less than during March. Also the quantity of Siberian butter coming forward during April and May will be very much less than during those months last year.

Although there is a very large quantity of New Zealand and Australian butter at the docks, it is still very difficult to get delivery owing to the general congestion there and at the various railway depots. Any butters actually available and ready for immediate delivery can be sold at from 2/ to 4/ per cwt. premium as against goods to arrive. And there is little or no accumulation. New Zealand butters are steady for spot goods at about 125/ to 136/ for salted, whilst prices for unsalted are more or less nominal at 138/ up to 140/. But there is very little on offer. The Whakatane and Remuera have arrived, but their goods will not be handled until after the holidays, and during the early part of this month a further 50,000 boxes are due on the Waimate, the Delphic, the Athenic, and the Waimana. As stated above, during the last two or three months we have had very violent fluctuations, and buyers generally have had a bad time. For the most part they now are only inclined to deal from hand to mouth. About six weeks ago New Zealand butter was 129/ to 132/, and Australian about 126/ to 130/. Within a week or ten days prices advanced 10/ to 12/ per cwt. Those prices only lasted for a week or so, when the decline was as rapid as the advance. There are numerous buyers up and down the country to-day who have New Zealand and Australian butter bought at prices that can only show a heavy loss. This, of course, is having a very detrimental effect on the general demand, for naturally until these buyers have cleared out their dear purchases they will not come into the market.

From Australia the only arrivals this week have been the Cufic and the Osterley, and the bulk of their goods will not be on the market until after Easter. A large quantity of butter which arrived last week, viz., by the Hurunui, the Moldavia, and Transports A 36 and 37, are still undelivered owing to the congestion at the docks. Prices of best Australian salted butter at the beginning of the week were about 136/ to 138/ ex wharf, London, but by the middle of the week not more than 132/ to 134/ was obtainable, whilst for unsalted (which earlier in the week was selling at 136/ to 140/) 134/ to 136/ was given. Useful qualities of Australian salted could be bought at from 126/ to 130/ for salted, and at 128/ to 132/ for unsalted. A small consignment of Argentine butter has averaged 128/ to 130/ for salted, and 128/ to 132/ for unsalted. Very little Dutch butter is now finding its way into this country, and the quantity of French is also in very small compass. The market for Danish has been quiet at prices ranging from 140/ to 143/ per cwt., and lower prices are anticipated in the near future. There is a fair quantity of Siberian on offer. For this 130/ to 132/ has been made for choicest salted and unsalted, and 126/ up to 130/ for good to fine selections.

The Copenhagen quotation has been again reduced to-day another 4 kr. The market closed before the holidays with prices of Australian butter irregular, ranging from 130/ to 134/ for best salted, and 134/ to 138/ unsalted. Good to fine is about 2/ per cwt. below these figures. Spot values of New Zealand are 134/ to 136/ for salted, and 136/ to 138/ for unsalted, but very little of the latter is available. Danish is 140/ to 144/.

MEAT EXPORT TRADE.

LONDON, April 1.

It is reported that this week no less than seventeen meat-carrying boats are waiting in the Thames for discharge. At the Central Meat Markets all values of meat have been high. Latest quotations at Smithfield are:—Beef, U.S.A., chilled, 5s to 5s 2d hinds, and 4s 3d to 4s 5d fores; Plate, chilled, hinds 4s 10d to 5s 2d, fores 4s 1d to 4s 3d; Plate, frozen, hinds 4s 2d to 4s 4d, and fores 4s to 4s 1d; Australian, hinds 4s to 4s 4d, crops 4s to 4s 2d; New Zealand, hinds 4s 3d to 4s 5d, and fores 4s to 4s 1d. New Zealand sheep are 3s 11d to 4s 5d, and ewes 3s 8d to 3s 9d; Australian, 3s 7d to 3s 9d; Plate, 3s 7d to 4s; New Zealand lamb is 5s to 5s 8d, Australian 4s 7d to 5s, and Plate 4s 7d to 5s 2d.

At the annual general meeting of the National Federation of Meat Traders' Associations it was stated that an examination by chartered accountants showed that in respect of 120 shops of every class of the butchers' trade the average percentage of net profit was only 3.2 per cent.

The following official notice was issued to-day:—"The Board of Trade are informed by the advisory committee of the National Federation of Meat Traders' Associations that, since the beginning of the year, the wholesale prices of meat, and particularly of British mutton, have further advanced. The retail prices of home-killed beef, of imported mutton, and of pork in and near London, should, in the opinion of the committee, be not more than 2d per lb, on the average, above those charged for similar meat a year ago, coarser joints being advanced somewhat more, prime joints somewhat less than the average. For British mutton and for imported beef prices should not be more than 2½d per lb. on the average above those charged a year ago. In the case of veal the rise in prices need not exceed 1d per lb. on the average. In the leading provincial centres wholesale prices of meat compare more favourably with those of a year ago than in London, particularly in the case of British mutton, the price of which has advanced generally less than those of beef and lamb. The wholesale price of pork has, in general, been but little above that of a year ago. The advance in retail prices in those centres should, consequently, be less than those specified above for London."

A Big One-Week WINDFALL Commences at Snow's This Morning.

Figures! Figures! In every modern business, wholesale and retail, the men who manage want to see the business increasing with each month. Trade to them is just a matter of figures. The Sales Manager of a certain big Australian ribbon importing house was just one thousand pounds behind the figures expected of him.

Knowing Snow's to be always open to take Special Lots, he came to us with a proposal that only had one fault—it meant taking 2,500 pieces of Ribbon. Few stores go in for anything in such "big licks," but the price turned the trick—Snow's accepted the proposal and so you can buy now

SEED WHEAT.

Mr. J. E. A. Fiorance, Baan Baa, writes.—Mr. Hall is reported as saying "I cannot understand why farmers are experiencing difficulties in securing seed wheat." My experience is doubtless that of many others. As the Government had seized all the wheat, I assumed that the only way to procure wheat for seed was to apply to the Government. I wanted a few bags to increase the area, and I wrote to the Government for some seed wheat. In reply, I was sent a form of application, wherein I was to give the fullest details of my financial position, and arrange to give security for the advance of seed wheat. I replied to this stating that, though it would be a convenience to get credit, I could not give this information and security for so small a transaction, and I offered to buy some seed for cash. I was thereupon informed that the seed wheat was only for necessitous farmers, and that I could not be supplied.

I then wrote to a farmer who advertised seed wheat for sale, asking for some suitable seed. In reply I was told that I could have the wheat at 9s 6d a bushel, but I would have to make a declaration to be sent to the Government stating that I required the seed to put in this year in New South Wales. I made this declaration, and sent it a couple of months ago to the seller, and at last I have received a letter expressing great regret at the delay, stating that my declaration had been sent in immediately, and that the seller had twice written urging the matter, but could get no reply. The seller said that this was the case with other applications, and told me that as it was so late I could, if I wished, cancel the order. This I had to do, as I could not allow time to slip away until it was too late to sow anything, and I put in some oats.

CARRIAGE OF STOCK.

The Premier has received a report from the Railway Commissioners respecting the death of seven horses during transit to Lockhart. The report states that the manager of Brookong station, to whom the circumstances were explained, is satisfied that if the stock had been unloaded at The Rock and given a drink everything would have been right.

FARMERS' MEETINGS.

CO-OPERATIVE TRADING.

At the quarterly meeting of the Orange district council of the Farmers and Settlers' Association, held at Molong, the following resolution was adopted:—"That it is advisable to establish a farmers and settlers' association labour bureau in Sydney, with the object of supplying suitable labour to the country producers."

It was also resolved: "That the time has now arrived when the constitution of the Farmers and Settlers' Association should be altered along the lines which would allow of it becoming a co-operative trading association."

Other resolutions urged that first-aid be taught in Public schools; that the Amending Local Government Bill be protested against by conference; that the Government be requested to make the duplication of the main railway lines take precedence over all other works, principally the city railway and the eastern suburbs railway.

BIG LAND DEAL.

NOWRA.—Wollamboola and Kinghorn estates, Jervis Bay, totalling 11,074 acres, have been sold in one line by Messrs. Stewart and Morton to a Sydney syndicate on behalf of the Hay trustees. This is the largest sale of freehold land that has been made in this district.

FORESTRY TEST CASE.

NARRABRI.—W. H. Wilson, of Pilliga, was proceeded against at the Police Court under Regulation 35 of the Forestry Act, 1909, for having removed timber from his additional settlement lease to effect improvements on his original settlement lease some distance away. Acting upon advice he refused to pay royalty thereon, and proceedings were taken in consequence.

The defence raised by Mr. Zlotakowski, solicitor, of Moree, was that Wilson was entitled to remove the timber under terms of his lease.

The P.M. fined Wilson the minimum, 20s and 6s costs, with one witness's expenses, £4 5s 6d.

Six weeks were allowed in which to pay, to allow defendant to obtain counsel's opinion with a view to a possible appeal.

DROUGHT AROUND COOMA.

COOMA.—The stock inspector of Cooma district reports that the drought conditions continue, and the outlook is serious. The present is the most disastrous drought experienced in the State. Early in the spring of last year fully half a million sheep and thousands of cattle and horses from the drought-stricken areas were sent to the Cooma and Bombala districts at an enormous cost to try to save them. Winter setting in, owners were compelled to send them back to their original holdings to die slowly of starvation. Some owners have secured temporary relief country in coastal districts, for which they are paying as much as the land itself is worth.

DISTRICT ITEMS.

BERRIGAN.—At a meeting of the local branch of the Farmers and Settlers' Association, it was resolved to urge the Government to proceed with irrigation works, preference to be given to inland districts, and that the Bungowannah-Cumberoona scheme be at once commenced. With no break in the drought in the pastoral areas of Riverina, the approaching winter is viewed with increasing apprehension.

BLACKTOWN.—Cattle and sheep are in great demand, but owners are reluctant to sell, as they consider that next month higher prices will be commanded all round. Orange, mandarin, and lemon fruit trees are bursting into blossom, which old growers reckon will be damaged by frost this month. Should the frost not kill the flowers, a good crop of second-crop fruit will be available for market next Christmas.

DUBBO.—Another landholder within the district has been compensated for the expenditure in putting down a bore. This is Mr. John Warren, of Milpa, Coboco-road. At a depth of 285ft a splendid supply was struck, the pressure sending the water up 22ft in the casing. An hour's test pumping could only reduce the column by 62ft.

GRAFTON.—At a meeting of the North Coast Agricultural Societies' Association, it was decided to enter for the district trophy competition at the national show, to be held in August. A statement made of the result of the award at the Sydney Show to the North Coast district exhibit, showed that the receipts totalled £403, and the outlay about £330.

TAREE.—As the rain has come so late in the season, it is feared that the output of milk and cream will be seriously affected for the coming winter, there being hardly sufficient warmth to give substance to the grass after soaking rains. Some farmers already report a falling off in the milk supply of their cows.

BLUE MOUNTAINS.

On Saturday the Jamison Bridge, at Wentworth Falls, and the new council chambers of the Blue Mountains Shire, at Lawson, were officially opened.

At the opening ceremony of the Jamison Bridge, Councillor J. T. Wall, president of the Blue Mountain Shire Council, stated that with the completion of the work one of the greatest sources of danger to residents had been removed. The cost of the work was about £700, of which £400 had been subsidised by the Government.

Mr. C. E. Burfitt, president of the Historical Society of New South Wales, after cutting the official tape, gave an address, in which he drew attention to the various stages of the construction of the road across the Mountains.

The new Shire Council-chambers at Lawson were opened in the afternoon.

Councillor J. T. Wall stated that at the inauguration of local government in the State, Lawson was fixed by the council as the seat of government, with offices in the reading-room of the School of Arts. The rapid development which had taken place in the mountain area, however, had made it necessary for the council to acquire new chambers. The site had been acquired from the Lands Department as a free gift to the people. The plans had been prepared by Mr. G. M. Pitt (architect), and the contract for the work had fallen to Mr. O. C. Blundell (Springwood), at approximately £18,000.

Mrs. J. T. Wall performed the opening ceremony by turning the lock with a gold key presented by the architects and builders.

APPLES FOR THE FLEET.

LONDON COMMITTEE'S THANKS.

HARD TIME FOR THE NAVY.

In the course of a letter to Mr. L. A. Saunders, hon. secretary of the fruit and vegetable section of the Red Cross Society, Mr. E. Jerome Dyer, hon. general secretary of the vegetable products committee, London, writing under date March 22, conveys the thanks of his committee for the organisation being developed for supplying the North Sea Fleet with a plentiful supply of fresh fruit and vegetables. He states: "The Admiralty do not include fresh vegetables and fruit in the regular rations served out to the men, and it is to make up this deficiency that this committee came into existence last September, under the presidency of Admiral Lord Charles Beresford. Up to this date we have supplied the fleet with about 700 tons of fresh fruit and vegetables. These supplies were largely contributed by people in the United Kingdom, but, unfortunately, home-grown fruit and vegetables are now rapidly slackening off owing to the winter season just coming to an end, and the many other appeals from hospitals, army camps, and Belgian homes throughout the country.

"We, therefore, feel very grateful to you for the help that you and your society, and the merchants and fruit growers of New South Wales promise in the near future, and which help is to be initiated by a shipment to us this month of 500 cases of apples. There is nothing more needed to keep the men of the fleet in a fit condition than a good supply of fresh fruit and vegetables. The fleet has been at sea now for about eight months, during which time they have had to depend almost entirely upon our organisation for supplies of these articles. Unfortunately, there is every probability of the fleet being kept at sea for at least another eight months, under conditions which will prove very exacting to the men. The greatest season of scarcity in these commodities in this country is the spring, which is now about to begin, and there is no season of the year in which men at sea are in more need of fresh fruit and vegetables. The men of the fleet are likely to have a very hard and anxious time during the next few months, when much will depend upon their good health and general fitness. In this, I need hardly say, diet plays a leading part. Therefore, we are more than ordinarily grateful to your society and the many whom you are associating with you, for the help which you so generously promise in the work we have in hand to keep the men of the fleet in the best condition possible."

THE WEATHER.

DROP IN TEMPERATURE.

During the 48 hours ended at 9 a.m. yesterday the only rainfall received in New South Wales has been some very light quantities on and near the Murray River. Albury had 9 points, Howlong 4, Corowa 3, Culcairn 2, and Henty, Tocumwal, and The Rock each 1. Kiandra had 8 points, and Kosciusko 20.

The weather at 9 a.m. yesterday was fine and clear generally, except cloudy in the extreme south-eastern corner, and at scattered places along the seaboard.

On Saturday morning an Antarctic depression was situated over portion of the south-eastern States, but since then it has travelled about 1000 miles eastward, and is now to the south of New Zealand.

Easting to the same extent has also been made by the great high pressure system, and this now occupies practically the whole of the continent, with its centre to the south of Adelaide. This, together with the fact that the winds over the greater part of Australia are mostly from the east and north-east, is favourable to rain development in the near future.

In Western Australia the conditions are still cloudy and unsettled, and should the present rate of easting be maintained, rain may be expected in New South Wales within the next three or four days.

For the present the only rainfall likely is scattered light falls in coastal districts, and a tendency to thunder in the north-east.

The temperature generally in this State was lower than on Saturday, the 9 a.m. readings being as much as 9 deg. lower at Goulburn, Lawson, Mount Victoria, Hay, Bodalla, and Parramatta, and 11 deg. lower at Cootamundra and Forbes, than at the same hour on Saturday. The lowest registrations were:—18 deg. each at Kiandra and Kosciusko, and 26 at Adelong. There were also numerous frosts on the highlands.

LOCAL GOVERNMENT.

ENGINEERS' CONFERENCE.

MR. GRIFFITH ON UNIFICATION.

The annual conference of the New South Wales section of the Institute of the Local Government Engineers was opened at the Town Hall yesterday. Members of the Town-planning Association and kindred bodies were present by invitation. The Lord Mayor of Sydney granted the use of the council-chamber, and, with the Federal president, Mr. J. M. Smail, M.I.C.E., welcomed the members and visitors. In opening the conference, his Excellency the Governor, Sir Gerald Strickland, urged the civil engineers and their associates to do everything in their power to assist the military authorities.

It was stated during the proceedings that something had been done to honour the memory of the pioneer engineer, William Cox, who made the first road over the Blue Mountains. The name of the man who did wonders in his day had been placed on a stone in the new Shire Chambers at Lawson. Later on a site would be selected for a Cox memorial on the Mountains.

Mr. Griffith, Minister in charge of local government, said he believed the time would come when State Governments would disappear, and local government would be under the jurisdiction of the Federal Government. It was his intention to create a distinct local government department.

The following motion was carried: "That the Government be asked by deputation from this conference for a definite reply to the institute's representations in regard to the establishment of a board of appeal for local government engineers."

The secretary, Mr. G. A. Taylor, in the annual report, acknowledged the gift to the institute by Mr. J. M. Smail of a fine library which had been collected during his many years of engineering practice. The resolutions of the last conference, it was stated, were placed before the Minister in charge of local government, and those which had been embodied in the Local Government Bill were the recommendation for a Width of Tyres Act, extension of power of councils to take road materials from private lands, and the increasing of the borrowing powers of shire councils.

THE WAR AND THE JEWS.

The Zionists of Sydney, following in the steps of Jewish bodies elsewhere, in answer to the appeals of their distressed co-religionists, held a public meeting in the School of Arts, Pitt-street, last night, when Mr. P. J. Marks presided.

Mr. Marks pointed out how necessary it was that the Jews should have a legally secured home in Palestine.

Mr. Brown proposed the following motions, which were passed unanimously:—(1) That, in the opinion of the meeting, there will arise during the peace negotiations at the termination of hostilities a unique opportunity for furthering the rights of the Jewish race. Strenuous efforts should be put forth to assert such rights, and the necessary steps should be taken to formulate demands for the recognition of civil, political, and religious equality in those countries where Jews are subject to disabilities. (2) That united action be taken to obtain a legally secured and publicly recognised home for the Jewish people in Palestine. (3) That all Jewish institutions in Australasia be urged to co-operate with Jewish bodies elsewhere in forming one central organisation to promote the aforesaid objects.

Messrs. Pechter, Risselhelf, and Hyman spoke in support of the resolutions.

GERMANY'S FALL.

If one looks at it fairly the sinking of the Lusitania is quite the natural sequence of what has gone before. Britain declared war against Germany because in the first instance the latter Power had broken the law of nations by turning a solemn treaty into "a scrap of paper;" and everything that has followed has developed inevitably from that first deed of infamy. The spirit in which the war began was one of ruthlessness and rapine on the German side. No law, divine or human, was to be allowed to stand between the German armies and their objective; and each step has been downward. Or, as the "Westminster Gazette" said when the Falaba was torpedoed at the end of March, German practice has been a continuous crescendo since the beginning of the war. Our London contemporary went on to suggest that the German Government might proceed to order the poisoning of wells and the dissemination of the cholera bacillus; but it did not foresee the use of poisonous gases or the murder of a thousand and more helpless people with one or two torpedoes. It was thinking of the Falaba, with its 140 passengers and crew of a hundred, which was attacked one Sunday afternoon by a German submarine; but the special horror in that event was the way in which the German crew laughed and jeered at the drowning women and children. The quarter-master of the Falaba said that the submarine was in the middle of them, with scores of people struggling in the water owing to the overturning of the boat. "I saw at least twenty men on her. They stood and laughed like blazes, the brutes. I should have liked to have got at them." Such was the testimony of this exasperated survivor; and his words will find a strange echo in our hearts as we read the accumulating details of the last and worst of a series of crimes, the mere suggestion of which would have been scouted as sheer insanity in the early days of August last.

Germany, or what she now represents, must be destroyed or she will destroy the world. This is the conclusion of nearly all the comment which reaches us from the rest of Christendom, and there can be no other possible. It was the fear of something so appalling which moved Bismarck on one occasion to exclaim that Germany would have to pay for her arrogance if she was not careful. The Iron Chancellor was writing to his wife from the camp before Paris, and his spirit was perturbed by the boastful pride of the general staff. France was not stricken to the dust then, the German States had not become an empire, and he could see trouble ahead. But what would have been his feelings could he have realised the full meaning of his prophecy or have understood what would grow from his policy of "blood and iron"? Everything may be traced to the seeds planted when Denmark was robbed in 1864. Austria was broken in 1866, and France was robbed and broken in 1870-71. They have germinated, and now we are thinking of Germany as hopelessly criminal and depraved—the outlaw of Europe, the Ishmael of the world. It may be said, perhaps, that the sinking of the Lusitania has so impressed the nations because of its size, and that many of the outrages before perpetrated were worse in their incredible vileness and callous brutality. But the significance of the latest outrage lies in its daunting declaration that nothing matters, that neither the feelings of a great neutral nation like America nor the hard-won higher levels of civilisation count for a moment beside Germany's ambition. That ambition must be realised or everything can go. Yet this defiance, after all, has its note of despair. It is an advertisement of impotence. As such it will put fresh energy into the allied ranks, while its pure cowardice and dastardliness will make recruiting easy throughout the British Empire as men fly to the colours to take a stern revenge upon a great criminal Power. In this view the sinking of the Lusitania may be regarded as a promise of final victory. Germany cannot win with such weapons, and apparently she has no others strong enough for her purpose. The world's denunciations will now assure her—even if the abominable deed has been perpetrated with the mad idea that peace may be forced upon the Allies, and that somehow Germany will be able to save her face while losing much that she would retain—that there is a long and terrible punishment yet to be given and endured.

SHIRE ADMINISTRATION.

To most residents of Sydney the problems of local government may seem to be concentrated in the struggle for a larger area of administration and in the doings or omissions of the various suburban councils. The care of the roads, the control of building operations, the careful expenditure of rates, and perhaps occasionally the beautification of a suburb are the whole duty of an alderman, unless he happens to belong to the council which has given Sydney its reputation as a municipal failure. The corresponding duty of a legislator is to reform the suburban alderman out of existence, to arm those who live beyond the suburban area with fresh powers, and at the same time to see that these fresh powers are administered diligently and impartially. It is well that this point of view should be corrected occasionally, as it will be by the two conferences, of which one was opened in Sydney yesterday, and the other will be opened to-morrow. When the reports and programmes put before these two bodies are considered, it will be easier to understand the suggestion of the Minister for Works that in course of time some system of local government will supersede the State Parliament. The respective functions of the two conferences are, of course, widely different, the councillors being concerned with matters of policy and administration, the engineers with their special duties, and with the interests of their profession. But between them they have control of affairs which touch the interests of all classes in the community, and especially of the producers. Under our present system it depends on the shire councils whether there is sufficient money available for expenditure on the country roads, and whether adequate road plants are provided. It is for the engineers to see that money is spent in accordance with the changing needs of modern traffic, that roads are properly supervised, and that the lessons learned in other parts of the world are not unknown to Australians. If these duties are to be fulfilled there must be co-operation between the members of the two conferences. The councils must insist that their engineers are thoroughly qualified, and while doing so, must be prepared to accede to the demand of the engineers that a well-trained man is adequately supported.

The principal topic before the Shires Conference will be the Local Government Bill. The one clause in that bill on which there will be practical unanimity will be the clause providing for a reduction of the franchise. The councillors have no rooted dislike to the present Minister. In their report they acknowledge concessions granted by the Minister for Works. But they are united in opposition to this clause, which has been forced upon the Minister by his masters outside Parliament. A clause which puts the affairs of a shire at the mercy of men qualified only by a short residence is objectionable of itself. It is intolerable when coupled with the removal of all limitations on shires' powers of rating. The two clauses between them would encourage the habit of imposing taxes which other men have to pay to an extent which the present ratepayers can hardly contemplate with equanimity. It is to be hoped that the councillors will not be so nearly unanimous in their opposition to the proposed Main Roads Board. The board does not deprive the shires of their control over expenditure. It relieves them of a burden which they were never intended to bear, and gives the central Government the supervision of works which are common to the whole State. If the councillors blame the Minister for certain clauses in the new bill they have every reason to thank him for the creation of a Local Government Department. The folly of making local government a branch of Public Works was illustrated when Mr. Griffith became Minister for Education without abandoning his bill. One of the chief functions of the new department will be the collection of information of value to engineers. Another of its duties will be to place the experience of individual shires at the service of others throughout the State. At present this service is performed throughout the year by the secretary to the association, and annually by such gatherings as this conference. The value of these meetings between persons engaged in local government cannot be diminished by any new department. But the new department will play an important part in the life of the State, a part which in consequence of the changes now foreshadowed may very well be of greater importance than that of any of the departments separately represented in Parliament.

LANCE-CORPORAL ANDERSON.

Lance-corporal A. A. Anderson, who was reported wounded in yesterday's casualty list, is a son of a well-known business man, Mr. W. W. Anderson, of Kent-street. At the outbreak of the war he joined the 1st Battalion of the 1st Brigade. He was formerly a member of the Sydney Grammar School cadets. After leaving school he joined the Irish Rifles, where he remained until, with the advent of compulsory training, he was drafted into the 33rd Regiment. In that body he wore two stripes. Prior to enlisting, Lance-corporal Anderson, who is only 20 years of age, was in the Sydney branch of the Eagle and Globe Steel Company, Ltd. He had also been on the staff of the International Harvester Company as a machinery expert. His parents reside at Chatswood.

CORPORAL HENDERSON.

Corporal Sidney Gordon Henderson, who was wounded at the Dardanelles, resided in North Sydney. He enlisted with the First Expeditionary Force, and latest advices from him while in Egypt (March 23) stated that he was a section commander in the 4th Battalion. He is 26 years of age, and was an old Fort-street School boy. He represented the North Sydney District Rugby Union Football Club in the position of full-back, and was noted as a good place kick. He is a brother of Mr. J. R. Henderson, chairman of the Rugby Union council, and a nephew of Captain William Henderson (Turner and Henderson, Ltd.).

CORPORAL E. L. TURTON.

Corporal Eric Lancelot Turton is a native of Sydney, and attained the age of 21 on the 4th inst. He held the rank of lieutenant in his school cadets, and on returning to Sydney he joined the Middle Harbour division of the military forces, in which he held the rank of lance-corporal. PRIVATE MARSHALL.

Private S. W. Marshall, 3rd Battalion, who was wounded in action at the Dardanelles, was on the station staff at Borenore, having previously been employed at Molong and Orange. He came to this State about two years ago, and had an exciting experience on his first attempt to reach here. He was one of the crew of the Narrung, which received such a buffeting in a storm in the English Channel that she had to put back to Gravesend for repairs, and the large number of emigrants on board had to be transferred to another steamer. He enlisted as soon as the Commonwealth called for men. He has a brother in France in the English Army Medical Corps.

PRIVATE HAROLD EDWARDS.

Private Harold Edwards (wounded), the son of Mr. Frank Edwards, of Bondi, and the grandson of the late Dr. James Edwards, of Tasmania, was 31 years of age and was educated at Balmain, under Mr. Robert Beavis. On the outbreak of war he resigned his position as an accountant in Adelaide, enlisted, and was attached to the 10th Infantry, 1st South Australian Contingent. Prior to going to Adelaide, Private Edwards followed mining pursuits, and was well known in the Kurri Kurri district, South Maitland, being identified with the local football club. He was also a Past Master of the Loyal Kurri Lodge, Manchester Unity, I.O.O.F. His brother, Sergeant Rupert Edwards, is now in Egypt with the 7th Light Horse Regiment.

He was an enthusiastic footballer, playing the League game for his district, and took a great interest in swimming. He resigned the secretaryship of the Leichhardt Swimming Club when he enlisted for the front. His wife and three children reside at Leichhardt. He is a fitter and turner by trade, and was employed at the Eveleigh workshops. He comes of a family of soldiers, both on his mother's and father's side. LATE CAPTAIN BURNS.

LITHGOW, Monday.

There was a crowded congregation at St. Paul's Church of England on Sunday morning, when a memorial service for Captain Ronald Burns, who was killed in action, was held. The altar was suitably draped, and an impressive sermon was delivered by the Rev. D. H. Dillon, the rector.

Private R. Cox, of the Artillery, who resided at Wagga, is not identical with the Private Cox reported as wounded in yesterday's issue.

THE PREMIERS.

CONFERENCE CONTINUED.

RAILWAYS PROBLEM.

The Premiers' Conference was resumed yesterday morning in the Legislative Assembly Chamber, Mr. Holman presiding.

The Premier of Tasmania, Mr. Earle, was present for the first time.

Mr. Holman (N.S.W.) said that the military authorities asked for speedier communication with the south-east of Australia, by means of the strategic railway, the position of which was that it had not yet obtained a concrete form. There was an alternative proposal to use and equip the State railways to link up South Australia with Queensland by duplicating them. It was inevitable that a strategic line should be double. There would be two border lines necessary, one running from New South Wales to Brisbane, and the other from New South Wales to Port Augusta. He ventured the opinion that there was not sufficient data to enable them to come to a decision on Mr. Fisher's proposal or whether the State lines could not be adapted.

Sir Alexander Peacock (Vic.): Mr. Fisher is not opposed to that?

Mr. Holman: No. The line proposed by Mr. Fisher would cost £11,000,000 or £12,000,000.

Mr. Walker (W.A.) asked if the Commonwealth would pay for adapting the State lines.

Mr. Holman: Yes.

Mr. McKinnon (Vic.) said he did not know that Victoria came into the matter at all. He moved that the proposal of the Prime Minister respecting the construction of a strategic railway be referred to a conference of Railway Commissioners in the mainland States for consideration, with a view to report as to the manner in which such a line should give commercial advantages without materially lessening its efficiency for military purposes.

Mr. Holman (N.S.W.) said that if the Railway Commissioners only were asked to report, there would be no precise data for them to work upon, stating that the line would run from one point to another. Mr. Fisher had not yet outlined his scheme, and he (Mr. Holman) thought that the Commonwealth Government could be asked to take the State Railway Commissioners into their counsel.

A resolution was eventually carried that the conference, recognising the importance of a strategic railway, and being anxious to assist the Commonwealth in this connection, and recognising the necessity of avoiding unnecessary multiplication of lines in New South Wales, thought that the best interests of all would be conserved by an immediate conference between the military advisers of the Commonwealth and the Railway Commissioners of Queensland, New South Wales, Victoria, and South Australia on the question of the route or routes such a line or lines should take, and report to the Commonwealth Government and the Governments of the States.

MEAT AND WHEAT ACQUISITION ACTS.

Mr. Holman said the question of the Meat and Wheat Acquisition Acts had been placed on the business paper, in view of the interest which it held for all the States.

Mr. Earle (Tasmania) said the custom of each State providing for itself was a decided violation of the principles of Federation. If one State were starving for wheat or butter or fodder, it was certainly not a federal spirit for another State to refuse the export of that commodity.

Mr. Holman said that unless delegates were prepared to go to the length of unification, which he personally was not prepared yet to do, he could not see how the difficulty expressed by Mr. Earle could be overcome. To have a State Government without the power to acquire property when it seemed fit, would be not to have a State Government at all. It would be but municipal government. If they abolished the sovereign power of the States, it would simply be merged in the Commonwealth, and that Government might at any time restrict trade by commandeering the whole supply of any commodity.

The motion was discharged from the business paper.

UNIFORM COMPANY LAW.

On the motion of Mr. Holman, it was resolved:—"That the New South Wales Attorney-General be asked to submit a draft of a uniform company bill to the Governments of the other States, and that they be asked to exchange suggestions."

AMERICAN MEAT TRUST.

On behalf of Victoria and New South Wales, Mr. Holman moved:—(1) "That steps be taken to give effect to the recommendation of the Royal Commission to 'watch' operations of meat companies in Queensland." (2) "That the Royal Commission be approached by the Governments of the States interested with a view to formulating a scheme of action."

The mover said the Royal Commissioner had reported that there was no meat ring in Australia, but had significantly added that the operations of certain companies should be watched.

The resolutions were carried.

The conference adjourned till 10 a.m. to-day.

STATE DINNER.

TO THE PREMIERS.

PATRIOTIC DEMONSTRATION.

The members of the Premiers' Conference were entertained by the State Government at a banquet in Parliament House last night. The chair was occupied by the State Premier, Mr. W. A. Holman, and there was a representative gathering, including both sides of the Legislative Assembly and members of the Legislative Council.

Mr. Holman, in proposing the toast of the interstate visitors, said that the men gathered round the conference board preserved intact the spirit of constitutional Government that had been handed down to them as traditions to keep alive the spirit of patriotism in their midst. (Applause.)

Mr. C. G. Wade, M.L.A., leader of the Opposition, supported the toast.

Sir Alexander Peacock, in responding, said it was 30 years ago since he came to Sydney a barefaced youth with the object of establishing a branch of the Australian Natives' Association. (Laughter.) He waited upon Sir John Robertson, the then Premier of New South Wales, who wanted to know "What the devil are you doing over here." (Great laughter.) Since then he had been in public life in Victoria for 26 years, and whenever he had come to Sydney he had received a warm welcome. (Applause.) He was present at the great Federal Convention in Sydney when Sir George Turner represented Victoria as Premier. (Applause.) Things had changed a good deal during the past few years, and they had been able by meeting in conference to settle difficulties that could never be removed by correspondence. (Hear, hear.) Gradually there was a better feeling springing up, and he had to confess that the relations between his Liberal Government and that of the Labour Prime Minister had been of the most cordial character. (Applause.) The conference met amid strenuous times in the Empire. (Applause.) The representatives of Victoria appreciated their welcome, and forgot for the time being that there had been a drought in Victoria, and the prospect of a deficit. (Applause.) They were sitting in their conference under the shadow of a great war, and had forgotten their political differences since the outbreak of the war, because they knew that the map of the world was going to be changed "after we have beaten our enemy." (Cheers.)

The toast was responded to by Mr. John Earle (Premier of Tasmania), who said they were all thrilled by the account they had read of the determined fighting of their brothers at the Dardanelles. (Cheers.) In Tasmania they appreciated the consignment of wheat they had received from New South Wales.

The Premier of South Australia (Mr. Crawford Vaughan) said that when they were faced with a common foe his State felt bound to place their resources at the command of the Federal authorities. (Applause.) They had news that day which placed the brand of Cain on the brow of the Kaiser, and would stiffen the resolution of the Allies. (Cheers.) The Kaiser's name would go down in infamy. (Applause.)

Mr. T. Walker, Attorney-General of Western Australia, said that never have we known such brutality, such black hearts, such diabolical cruelty as was being exhibited by a nation that claimed a special distinction for culture. (Cheers.) There was not a nation but was horror-struck at the savagery of this wild people. (Applause.)

Mr. Holman gave the toast of "Our Allies, and Success to the Allies." (Cheers.) The heroism of the Servians, the Japanese, and the Russians they knew. He asked them to consider another group of the Allies, with whom they might be considered in more sympathetic rapport—first, the gallant Belgians—(cheers)—and next the nation whose history was one of liberty and fidelity, their valiant Allies, the French. (Cheers.) Under the leadership of their unparalleled leader, General Joffre, the French had sustained the full critical brunt of the war. (Cheers.) He coupled with the toast that of Great Britain and her dependencies. (Applause.)

The toast was honoured amid the strains of "The Marseillaise" and "Rule Britannia."

Sir Alexander Peacock proposed the toast of "Our Host, the Premier of New South Wales," which was received with musical honours.

FIGHTING FOR THE EMPIRE.

GOVERNOR'S PATRIOTIC SPEECH.

HOW TO HELP THE EMPIRE.

Sir Gerald Strickland in the council-chamber at the Town Hall yesterday morning opened the annual conference of the Institute of Local Government Engineers of Australasia (New South Wales section) with a spirited war speech. The council-chamber was crowded.

His Excellency, who was enthusiastically applauded on rising, said that for hundreds of years to come it would be a proud boast that their soldiers had helped the old country in the time of need—that Australians could point to ancestors who had fought bravely in this great war. (Cheers.) What he wished to emphasise was that their civil engineers could, and should, co-operate with the military engineers in bringing about the speedy and conclusive victory they all desired. (Cheers.) There were certain weak points in what might be called the war administration which called for comment and consideration. For example, there was the appeal of Lord Kitchener for a quicker and larger output of the munitions of war. In the stress of the army requirements the dearth of capable doctors and experienced nurses was also realised at headquarters. (Hear, hear.) Well, in his opinion, it was much easier to manufacture shells than to get the right kind of doctors and nurses in a few months. (Applause.) It was of supreme importance that they should all concentrate their energies on bringing the Empire through the greatest struggle in her history. (Cheers.) The civil engineer had many qualifications for the army. He was an organiser, he was a keen observer of character, and he understood how to command, as well as how to obey. These qualities, with a power of authority which developed with his professional training, eminently fitted the members of the Institute for the work of recruiting and selecting good men. (Hear, hear.) In this way a large field of usefulness in helping the Empire was open to the gentlemen who were now in conference. (Applause.) The war was the thing upon which they should fix their minds, and they would be serving the Empire if they gave one more recruit to the army, or helped to make one recruit better than he was before he joined the colours. (Cheers.)

The Lord Mayor, in proposing a vote of thanks to the Governor for his address, said that what had been done in England recently by the Council of Civil Engineers in helping the Empire could be done in Australia. The representative of his Majesty the King had called upon the gentlemen now in conference to exercise their ingenuity, skill, and enthusiasm in helping the soldiers of the Empire. (Applause.) This country was now animated by the spirit of combat. With righteousness on the side of Britain and her Allies it was only a question of time for right to prevail. (Applause.)

Mr. J. M. Small, federal president of the Local Government Engineers, seconded the vote of thanks.

The following motion, proposed by Mr. Small, as chairman, was carried:—"That this conference records its highest admiration of the stirring deeds of Australia's sons at the Dardanelles, and wishes them a speedy and triumphant march to Constantinople."

The following paragraph was read in the report of the State secretary:—"The past year has seen Australia under war conditions for the first time in its self-governing history. It is in such a time that the call in the blood for patriotic service comes uppermost. Some of our members have enlisted, some—G. H. Rowney, J. Mackenzie, and others—have their sons in the Dardanelles, or on the way, whilst many at home are doing their best in being of service to military authorities in supplying topographical information of military value."

AUSTRALIAN ART.

EXHIBITION BY W. LISTER LISTER.

OPENING BY SIR JAMES FAIRFAX.

The exhibition of paintings by Mr. W. Lister Lister which was opened by Sir James Fairfax yesterday afternoon at Anthony Horderns' Art Gallery shows the president of the Royal Art Society in his happiest moments. Mr. Lister's inspiration is at times inclined to become a little obvious, a little mechanical, and his brushwork not always free from a certain hardness. In the present exhibition these defects, while not wholly absent, are subordinated by the artist's genuine appreciation of colour, and by his sincere, if limited, vision of the beauty in nature, particularly in Australian nature. These qualities are most apparent in one or two of the large oils, such as "The Winding Road" (No. 4), with its cool half-lights and tranquil reflections; or the mist-enchanted, opalescent distances of "Sydney Harbour" (No. 6), as well as in a host of smaller watercolours, sixty-four in all. Many of these Mr. Lister has never surpassed, and the collection as a whole will be of interest to everyone interested in Australian art as a mirror of the elusive thing, the soul of Australia.

"I am sure," said Sir James Fairfax in his opening speech, "we accept with much pleasure the invitation of Messrs. Anthony Hordern and Sons to come here to see this fine exhibition of pictures, the work of Mr. Lister Lister, president of the Royal Art Society. Mr. Lister Lister sets a good example to art students, for his pictures give evidence of his careful preparations by study of nature in its various aspects, and so brings before us scenes in the Australian forests and amongst the mountains, hills, and seashores, and makes us familiar with the beautiful trees and the flora of our own land.

"It has been said that Australia has little for the artist; such an observation is quite refuted by any who will spend time to carefully seek for subjects. They are beautiful in land and river, forests and torrents. You can find nature at rest in the warm sunlight, or can watch the trees set in motion by gentle or high winds, fleecy clouds or storm clouds driven across the sky. There is plenty of scope in this country for the artist to transfer nature to his canvas, and, if he likes, to add poetry and idealism to adorn the walls of those who would add beauty to their houses.

"I think much that I have ventured to say may apply to Mr. Lister's collection in oil paintings, and many of his works in oil and watercolours have already found owners who delight in them, not only in Australia, but in England, and probably other places abroad.

"Some time ago the privilege was accorded to me to declare an exhibition of our friend Mr. Lister's open. He tells me it was a successful undertaking. I think we may wish him even greater success in the present distribution of his works.

"We must not forget that a recent commendable effort was made by the combined societies of artists to add to the funds of the Red Cross Society, which resulted in a cheque of about £1000 being presented by the artists of Sydney to the Red Cross for the benefit of our soldiers who are fighting for us."

Mr. Lister, in reply, congratulated Messrs. Anthony Hordern and Sons on their courage and enterprise in building a gallery which gave Australian artists one of the finest rooms in the colonies in which to exhibit their work. Sir James Fairfax was received by Mr. R. S. Gillett, managing director. Mr. W. Lister Lister subsequently entertained the numerous gathering at afternoon tea.

PANAMA EXPOSITION.

MR. DEAKIN AND MR. NIELSEN RESIGN.

At the Premiers' Conference yesterday, news was received from the Commonwealth authorities of the resignation of Mr. Alfred Deakin (chairman) and Mr. Nielsen (New South Wales) of their positions as Australian Commissioners on the Panama Pacific Exposition Committee.

The following resolution was adopted by the conference:—"We learn with very great regret of the resignations of the chairman and Commissioner Nielsen from their positions on the Panama Exposition Committee, in consequence of interference with their work by a Federal Department. We trust that you can make such arrangements as will induce these gentlemen to withdraw their resignations, and thus preventing the Australian representation from being held up to ridicule."

MELBOURNE, Monday.

On being seen to-night, the Prime Minister, Mr. Fisher, was questioned as to what was the cause of the resignations. He could not be induced to say anything beyond "I think it is a question of etiquette."

ANOTHER RUSH.

TO THE BARRACKS.

NEARLY 300 RECRUITED YESTERDAY.

SPLENDID VOLUNTEERS.

The call for recruits which has been echoing throughout the Commonwealth since the gathering of the war clouds over Europe is being splendidly responded to in New South Wales, and yesterday saw another record put up at the enrolling office since it has been under the charge of its present head. Nearly 300 men passed through his hands, and at the conclusion of the day's work he remarked that he had rarely seen a finer body of recruits.

"They were mostly business men, accountants, railway and tramway men, post and telegraph employees, motor men, and motor mechanics," said the officer, "but all were of a fine solid stamp. The whole lot apparently appeared to be ready for anything. It was a pleasure to handle such an intelligent body of men."

A large and enthusiastic attendance gathered at North Sydney on Saturday night to entertain Captain Chaplain Colwell, who is shortly leaving for the front. Rev. James Colwell, who succeeds his brother as superintendent of the circuit, presided. Mr. Over presented Chaplain Colwell with a pair of field glasses, and Mr. W. Devitt presented him with a leather writing case.

Several members of the Musicians' Club have volunteered for active service, the last two being Messrs. L. Kelleway and R. Jeffes. They are expert signalmen, good rifle shots, and hold exemptory certificates of discharge from the R.A.A.

In response to the invitation of Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Levitt about 40 residents assembled at their residence, Hazelbrook, on Saturday evening last, to participate in a send-off to Victor Levitt, their son; Norman Burgess, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Burgess (Mr. Burgess and his eldest son were through the Boer war); and Reginald Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Smith. On the departure of the 7.14 p.m. train from Hazelbrook on the 9th inst., bearing Norman Burgess for the Army Medical Corps at Queen's Park, Woollahra, a large number of residents on the platform and passengers sang the National Anthem, and cheered the Allies. The same compliment was paid to Victor Levitt and Reginald Smith on their departure for the camp at Liverpool by the 7.56 a.m. train on the 10th inst.

Lieut. H. E. Clunies Ross, who, prior to the outbreak, was on the literary staff of the "Sydney Morning Herald," is shortly leaving for the front with the Light Horse. Yesterday afternoon he was farewelled by his comrades on the "Herald," when Mr. T. W. Heney asked him to accept a pair of military field glasses in case complete as a memento of the good feeling entertained towards him by those he had worked with in the office. Lieut. Ross is a nephew of Mr. Martin Donohoe, the well-known war correspondent now at the front, who was himself a Sydney journalist at one period of his career.

On behalf of the head office staff of the A.M.P. Society, the secretary, Mr. H. W. Apperly (in the absence of Mr. Richard Teece, general manager), yesterday afternoon presented pipes and fountain pens to the following members of the staff who are proceeding to the front:—Lieutenant V. H. Sampson, Lieutenant S. A. Middleton, Quartermaster-sergeant S. Beddie, Corporal F. M'Mahon, Corporal G. Dickens, J. Blumer (captain of the office rifle club), and R. Hidden. Nearly 20 members of the head office staff have been accepted for active service.

Lieutenant-Colonel Roth, D.S.O., commanding the 5th Field Ambulance now in camp at Queen's Park, Waverley, was entertained on Saturday night at Fisher's Rooms, Liverpool-street, by members of the Teachers' Association, the P.S.A.A.A., and other representatives of the Department of Education. For nearly 30 years Dr. Roth was principal medical officer to the schools. He was all through the South African war.

The Archbishop of Sydney visited the Liverpool military camp on Sunday, and preached at the parade service.

Private James A. Anderson, who is proceeding to the front, was tendered a farewell on Saturday evening at Forest Lodge, and Mr. C. Haynes, on behalf of his personal friends, presented him with a signet ring. He was also presented by Mr. H. Davies, on behalf of the Government coal and grain elevator employees, with a wristlet watch and silver cigarette case.

On Friday, at the Commonwealth Crown Solicitor's Office, Mr. W. J. Giddey, one of the staff, who has joined the 5th Field Ambulance Corps, was presented with a wristlet watch.

Prior to his departure with the Expeditionary Forces, Mr. Wm. Hayes was presented with a wristlet watch by the employees of Johnson Bros. and Co., Ltd.

SUPPLIES HELD UP.

COMPLAINT BY FARMERS.

The secretary of the Necessary Commodities Control Commission (Mr. R. Ovington) yesterday stated that he was literally overwhelmed with telegrams and letters from farmers and others stating that their stock was perishing through their inability to obtain supplies of hay, chaff, and lucerne, and further charging agents with holding up supplies.

The messages, Mr. Ovington states, contain loose, general statements, but there is no definite information of any character which the Commission could act upon. The farmers were simply wasting their money in telegrams. In cases where the Commissioners have been supplied with authentic and definite information regarding the holding of stocks they have never failed to recommend a seizure by the Government, and in every case this seizure has been carried out.

FRENCH SPORTSMEN.

LAWN TENNIS PLAYER'S LETTER.

News of A. H. Gobert, the famous French international tennis player, is obtained from a letter written by him to the editor of "American Lawn Tennis," and published in that journal. Writing on February 25, he says:—

"I unfortunately cannot give you any interesting news from the French or English players, not knowing where they are or what they are doing. All that I know is this: Decugis has been recently wounded near Bar-le-duc. Canet, Ayme, Chancerel are automobilists. Also Gault, on an armoured car. Germot, who was first in the 'auxiliary,' has been lately transferred in the troops of the 'active army,' and is rather unhappy (not being in very good health, neither strong) somewhere in the south-west of France.

"Among our killed comrades are Chelli, who was the secretary of the Lawn Tennis Club of France, and a very good second-class player, and Du Bousquet, a youngster who was killed during the famous 'Bataille de la Marne.' I can give you some good news from W. Masson, the secretary of the old Tennis Club of Paris, and of Miss Ad. Masson. Both are in Paris, and have transformed the club into a hospital. They have in the big club-room from 25 to 30 beds, and receive there wounded soldiers. I can assure you they are perfectly well treated.

"It is not without a smile that I read the letter of M. Galvao." (This is in reference to Galvao, a German, who had lived for some time and played much lawn tennis in New York. He managed to get back to Germany, whence he wrote that he "had arrived just in time to get the last of these French fellows.") "Things don't seem to be going quite so well as he expected, and he has perhaps found now that the French infantry is not as bad as he thought. You Americans know perhaps better now what Germans are and how they fight, how nice they are for the children and women, and how they treat innocent monuments and churches. I saw myself such awful things on my way that I can't be very indulgent for them.

"I can't say as an end to this letter 'I hope to see you soon,' because I don't think that the great war will soon be brought to an end; but if I am lucky enough to go through all the ground I have still to go over it will be with immense pleasure that I will start again my tennis life, and then I will go to New York and shake hands with you. But all this is so 'problematique' that I don't dare to think of it. If I am home for next Christmas it will be splendid."

WAR TIME IN LONDON

(BY OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

The Falaba Crime.

LONDON, April 2.

Germany's blockade of Britain's foodstuffs having proved an abject failure, Germany's thwarted submarines have turned their energies in other directions. If the case of the Falaba is to be taken as typical, the enemy is now frankly out to commit wholesale murder on the high seas, with utter disregard of chivalry, humanity, the rules of war written and unwritten, and every other element of civilised hostilities. The submarine commander gave the Falaba's company five minutes to leave the ship, and then fired his torpedo. With some 250 persons concerned, boats sufficient for them to be launched, and the general disorder of the situation to be overcome, five minutes' grace was merely a mockery, and the sinking of the ship, with its attendant horrors of people drowning in a rough sea, while their murderers lay by laughing at their struggles, will long be remembered against the German navy and its responsible command. We have only to think how impossible to the British Navy such an act would be, to realise the gulf of difference that is between the two codes of national honour and its expression in honourable warfare. In Germany this week, so little is the concern for such things, praise is being loudly sounded for the affair of the Falaba as a splendid example of naval prowess. Obviously, it is impossible for us to meet such a people on a common level of understanding. We are hoping, rather, that this new instance of the German militarist method will speed up still hesitant Englishmen to a fresh enthusiasm of patriotism and the sacrifices patriotism demands of them.

Lord Rothschild.

The death this week of the head of the world-famous house of Rothschild, removes not only one of the foremost financiers of our time, but a man universally respected. Those two aspects of him, indeed, assure to his passing a sincere and widespread sorrow. Perhaps no one will ever know the exact measure of him as an asset in finance. The operations of the great banking-house in St. Swithin's Lane are, in truth, so far-flung, and so manifold, that the history of them is the secret history of nations. All that is known is that countries and governments from China to Peru have been financed into stability by Rothschilds, and that in innumerable crises the motive power behind rulers and Ministries has been the silent power of the famous house. It has been said that if Rothschilds suddenly called in its loaned moneys, the world would have to disgorge some 700 millions sterling. This is surely the super-capitalist, this institution without the aid of which the financial history of the five continents had been entirely different. But the great thing about the Lord Rothschild who has just died is that even those whose fiercest anger is their anger against the capitalist, have not a word to say against him. His praise, indeed, is loudest, to-day, in the mouths of the humble. For he was a capitalist of quite another order than the accustomed. The difference between him and, say, the capitalist of the greedy, grinding trust, is as the poles apart. He was a simple-living, kindly man. His public benefactions were great, but his private munificence was princely. He was a worker in all sorts of good causes. The Jewish community, of which he was the acknowledged head, are grief-stricken at his death, for the simple reason that his devotion to their welfare, and his generosity in the thousand-and-one avenues open to an East End benefactor, were inexhaustible. For the rest, a man who loved art, whose hobbies were those of the cultivated country gentleman, and who died in the midst of an effort for the Red Cross Fund, for which he was mainly responsible, and which he had the satisfaction of seeing firmly established in success. If only all capitalists were Rothschilds.

Soldierly Words.

That was a fine speech the General Officer Commanding addressed to the Canadian Division the other day, when the men were about to go into the trenches for the first time. We could well hope for some such inspiration to the Australian troops when it is their turn to face the real thing. The G.O.C. in this case was General Alderson, and he said:—"All ranks of the Canadian Division: We are about to occupy and maintain a line of trenches. I have some things to say to you at this moment which it is well that you should consider. You are taking over good, and on the whole, dry trenches. I have visited some myself. They are intact, and the parapets are good. Let me warn you first that we have had several casualties while you have been attached to other divisions. Some of these casualties were unavoidable, and that is war. But I suspect that some—at least a few—could have been avoided. I have heard of cases in which men exposed themselves with no military object, and perhaps only to gratify curiosity. We cannot lose good men like this. We shall want them all if we advance, and we shall want them all if the Germans advance. Do not expose your heads, and do not look round corners, unless for a purpose which is necessary at the moment you do it. It will not often be necessary. . . . . To lose your life without military necessity is to deprive the State of good soldiers. Young and brave men enjoy taking risks. But a soldier who takes unnecessary risks through levity is not playing the game. And the man who does so is stupid, for whatever be the average practice of the German Army, the individual shots whom they employ as snipers shoot straight. . . ."

"If you put your head over the parapet without orders they will hit that head. There is another thing. Troops new to the trenches always shoot at nothing the first night. You will not do it. It wastes ammunition, and it hurts no one. And the enemy says: 'These are new and nervous troops.' No German is going to say that of the Canadian troops.

"You will be shelled in the trenches. When you are shelled, sit low, and sit tight. This is easy advice, for there is nothing else to do. If you go out you will only get it worse. And if you go out the Germans will go in. And if the Germans go in, we shall counter-attack and put them out, and that will cost us hundreds of men instead of the few whom shells may injure. The Germans do not like the bayonet, nor do they support bayonet attacks. If they get up to you, or if you get up to them, go right in with the bayonet. You have the physique to drive it home. That you will do it I am sure, and I do not envy the Germans if you get among them with the bayonet.

"There is one thing more. My old regiment, the Royal West Kent, has been here since the beginning of the war, and it has never lost a trench. The Army says: 'The West Kents never budge.' I am proud of this great record of my old regiment. And I think it is a good omen. I now belong to you, and you belong to me. And before long the Army will say: 'The Canadians never budge.' Lads, it can be left there, and there I leave it. The Germans will never turn you out."

FROZEN MEAT.

NOT SALABLE IN AUSTRALIA.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

"Why not sell the meat locally?" asked the Minister for Customs (Mr. Tudor) of an Adelaide deputation to-day.

The Minister's attention was drawn to the difficulty in shipping frozen produce owing to the insufficiency of space.

"Because people in Australia will not eat frozen meat. If they will there are 40,000 carcases of mutton and lamb in cold storage which could be made available," said Mr. Angliss, M.L.C. He added that there was likely to be a shortage of meat supplies.

Mr. Tudor said he hoped the meat would be sold locally. On the subject of space, he referred Mr. Angliss to the Transport Board.

SHIPWRIGHTS' WAGES.

WELLINGTON (N.Z.), Monday.

The Arbitration Court at Wellington has fixed the shipwrights' wages at 1s 7d an hour, and the hours at 44 a week.

AMAZING DASH.

COVER DISREGARDED.

CASUALTY LISTS.

A witness of the recent fighting in the Dardanelles states that the heaviest loss was borne by the Australians and New Zealanders, who with amazing dash and bravery declined to take cover.

An Athens message states that the Allies have captured several heights dominating Kilid Bahr.

The eleventh and twelfth casualty lists relating to Australian and New Zealand troops are published.

RECKLESS DASH.

AUSTRALASIANS DISDAIN COVER.

CHARGING AHEAD.

ATHENS, May 10.

An eye-witness of the recent fighting states that the heaviest losses were borne by the Australians and New Zealanders, whose one fault was a complete disdain for cover. Their bravery and dash were amazing.

In some cases men, after rushing the first Turkish trenches, for 10 minutes charged ahead, despite the appeals of their officers, penetrating several miles inland, and suffering heavily, when Turkish reinforcements compelled them to retreat.

Home troops pay the warmest tributes to the Australians.

German officers endeavoured to create a diversion by donning uniforms of English and Australasian officers, mingling with our men, and giving false orders.

NAGARA BOMBARDED.

The Deputy Governor of Tenedos has telegraphed that the warships are concentrating their fire on the single fort at Nagara, all the others having been destroyed.

The Allies, after a fierce struggle, captured several heights dominating Kilid Bahr.

It is reported that the Allies have captured Atchi Baba, and are threatening the forts at the rear.

A Turkish aeroplane dropped bombs on a bivouac at Gallipoli, doing some damage.

AEROPLANE BROUGHT DOWN.

ATHENS, May 9.

H.M.S. Queen Elizabeth brought down a German aeroplane.

GENERAL D'AMADE ILL.

PARIS, May 10.

General d'Amade, who is in command of the Expeditionary Force to the Dardanelles, is ill. General Gouraud succeeds him.

CONGRATULATIONS.

GENERAL HUTTON AND OLD COMRADES.

MESSAGE FROM CANADA.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

The following cable message was received by the Prime Minister (Mr. Fisher) to-day from the Prime Minister of Canada (Sir R. Borden): "Canada congratulates the Commonwealth on the splendid action of her troops in the Dardanelles, which demonstrates alike the quality of the British stock and the solidarity of the Empire. (Signed) Foster, Acting Prime Minister."

General Sir Edward Hutton cabled to Mr. Fisher:—"Heartiest congratulations upon the magnificent gallantry displayed by the Australian troops at Gaba Tepe. The Commonwealth has reason to be proud of the dash, daring, and determination of her sons. I recall with renewed pride and pleasure my long association with my Australian comrades."

The Governor of Victoria, Sir Arthur Stanley, has written to the Governor-General in the following terms:—"On behalf of the people of Victoria, who are proud of the heroes who have fallen in the great cause for which the Empire is fighting, may I express to you the supreme satisfaction that all citizens of this State feel that their sons have by their valour maintained and added to the honour of Australia. While they lament with the relations of those who have fallen, they share their pride in the glorious deaths of their sons. To the forces of the Commonwealth they desire to express their confidence in their determination and ability to carry to a successful conclusion any task which may be required of them in this war of freedom."

MAJOR LAMB.

Major Malcolm St. J. Lamb, who was wounded in the right arm, has returned to the base hospital in Egypt. He is a native of Armidale, N.S.W., and a member of the Department of Public Instruction. He entered the service in his early teens, and was at first an assistant teacher on the Northern Rivers. He was afterwards on the staffs of schools in Gardener's-road and George-street, Redfern.

Before enlisting he was an instructor of manual training at Kogarah, where he resided with his wife and family. He was always an active member of the cadet forces, and held a commission as major under the compulsory training scheme. He was regarded as an efficient officer and a strict disciplinarian.

Major Lamb served in the South African war with the Bushmen's Contingent. He was appointed captain in the Third Battalion under Colonel Owen. He attained the rank of major while in Egypt.

THE WESTERN FRONT.

The mobilisation of Italy's first line of troops is complete.

It is stated that Italy has sent a message to Turkey repudiating the Treaty of Lausanne, and claiming to annex twelve islands in the Southern Aegean.

"Eye-witness" relates how the use of asphyxiating gas enabled the enemy to gain ground at Hill 60 last week.

The Germans claim a success near Ypres, and that they have taken 800 English prisoners.

Austro-German reports say the Russian retreat in Western Galicia continues, but violent battles are developing in South-eastern Galicia.

The total number of those lost with the Lusitania is 1399.

HEAVY DAMAGE FEARED.

WESTERN FRONT.

GAINS BY ALLIES.

TWO THOUSAND PRISONERS.

PARIS, May 9.

A communique states:—We made considerable progress towards Loos (4½ miles south-east of La Bassee), and advanced along a front of seven kilometres.

South of Carency we captured two, sometimes three, lines of German trenches, which were very solidly fortified. We advanced at certain points four kilometres, and took prisoner 2000 Germans, and also captured six guns.

A German attack on Nieuport was repulsed with important losses.

BRITISH LINE.

FIRMLY ESTABLISHED.

LONDON, May 9.

Sir John French reports on May 9:—The enemy last night made attacks east of Ypres, and continued them to-day. They were all repulsed with heavy loss.

The British line is perfectly established.

The 1st British Army attacked the enemy on May 9 between Bois Grenier and Festubert, east of La Bassee, and gained ground to the south-east towards Fromelles. This fighting continues.

An airman made a successful attack on St. Andre Junction, north of Lille, and the bridge over the canal at Don, and also dropped bombs upon Fournes, Herliers, Illies, Marquilles, and La Bassee.

HILL 60.

SEVERE FIGHTING.

LONDON, May 9.

"Eye Witness," with the British Headquarters, writes:—After severe fighting on the afternoon of May 2, our line north of Ypres was re-established in the evening. There were indications on Monday morning of a renewal of the attack. Our guns fired into considerable bodies of the enemy, inflicting heavy losses.

The fighting was renewed on Wednesday at several points round the Ypres salient. Clouds of gas forced us to evacuate our trenches on Hill 60, whereupon the Germans rushed the hill.

Though temporarily checked by our artillery, the Germans, gaining an advantage in the confused fighting, followed up their success by forcing their way to our supporting line in the direction of Zillebeke. They took our trenches to the north of the hill.

The British, by a counter-attack, drove them off all the captured trenches, except those on the crest and the north-east of the hill.

The British, by another counter-attack at midnight, gained the whole position, but they were again driven off by the gases. At the same time two British counter-attacks were made upon the trenches to the north-east of the hill, but failed."

"Eye-witness adds: "The sight of their comrades crawling about moaning for water and dying in their tracks like poisoned vermin aroused the feeling of the troops. It is to be hoped that the British Empire will not rest until full retribution is exacted from the enemy."

POISONOUS GAS.

THE GERMAN ADVANTAGE.

DUNKIRK, May 10.

Asphyxiating gases gave the Germans an initial advantage at Hill 60. The British were blinded and suffocated, but held on as long as possible. Even with respirators the position was intolerable.

When they sprang on the parapets at the back of the trenches the German machine guns opened fire. Many fell under the hail of bullets, and had to run. The gases then enshrouded the deserted hilltop.

GERMAN STATEMENT.

ENGLISH PRISONERS.

LONDON, May 9.

A Berlin communique states:—We dislodged the enemy from strongly fortified positions between a redoubt at Wieltje (two miles north-east of Ypres) and Gheluvelt, and occupied important heights east of Ypres. Up to the present we have taken 800 English prisoners.

WAR NOTES.

THE GALICIAN BATTLE.

The great battle in the Carpathians is still in progress, and the Russian right is being gradually pushed eastward. The official despatches from Petrograd emphasise that the fight has not yet reached its culminating point, and imply that the enemy reports, which seek to convey the impression that it is now only a matter of pursuing the retreating Russian forces, are far from the actual case. The Russians during the past few days have admitted falling back from the Dunajec and the neighbourhood of Dukla; but we need to remember that the Czar's armies have, on quite a number of occasions, retreated a certain distance, and then turned savagely upon their opponents, with disastrous results to the latter. We may fully expect them to make a big stand shortly, in order to prevent, if possible, the abandonment of the whole of their Carpathian line. All the important fighting in the present battle has been on the Russian right flank. If the reader will refer to the map appearing in this issue he will be able to grip the general Austro-German plan, as we point out that the Russian line at the outset ran from the Vistula, near where the Dunajec River enters that stream, southward along the western bank of the Dunajec to a point a few miles above Zakliczyn, then on to Ciezkowice and Gorlice to a point a little west of the Dukla Pass. That line—from the Vistula to the point west of the Dukla Pass—represented the Russian right flank. The main Russian front ran along the Carpathians themselves. As the Russians had a firm grip of this range down as far as Uszok, it meant a task of tremendous difficulty for the Austro-Germans to push them northward by attacking their front, as all the fighting on the crest of the range itself would be confined to a few narrow passes. So the plan adopted was to attack the right flank, which ran along far less difficult country.

PUSHING IN THE FLANK.

And if that flank could be pushed eastward it would mean that after it had been so pushed a certain distance the general Russian line would assume something of the shape of a huge letter "L." And when a line assumes that shape the troops in the angle of the "L" are in a precarious position, as not only are they being attacked on two sides, but their lines of supply are being continually menaced. An army so placed, unless it is strong enough to break through the enemy's line somewhere in the vicinity of the angle of the "L," almost invariably falls back and keeps the angle as obtuse as possible. The enemy, on the other hand, tries to force the upright stroke of the L further towards the base line, thus menacing that base line and throwing the avenues of supply for both the main line and the flank into confusion. The Austro-German forces have pushed the Russian flank back as far as the Wisloka River, so it will be seen that if the Russians hung on to the positions west of Dukla their general line would by this time be beginning to assume the character of the letter L. But the Russians have fallen back from the Dukla neighbourhood, and by this means have kept the angle between their flank and their main line still obtuse. As far as we can judge from the Petrograd messages the flank now joins the main front somewhere between Dukla and the Lupkow pass; but the Austrians claim that the Russians are falling back from the crest of the range as far east as Uszok. This would hardly be likely until the Austro-German forces had pressed the right flank back well eastward of the Wisloka, and we have no knowledge from either side of that having occurred. As indicated above a big Russian stand on the right may be expected, before the Grand Duke elects to relinquish his hold on the Carpathians, and such a stand will probably be made when his right has fallen back upon some position which has by this time been prepared for such a contingency.

THE WESTERN FRONT.

Very heavy fighting appears to be in progress almost throughout the whole of that section of the battle-front in the west between Arras and the Ypres district. It is in the latter neighbourhood that the Allies' line, after coming down from the Belgian coast, takes a turn to the south-west on its way to Armentieres. This turn is made in a wide sweep round the eastern side of Ypres, and it constitutes a salient in the line which the Germans have made strenuous efforts to drive in. In the first great battle of Ypres, some months ago, they lost many thousands of men to no purpose, and ever since they have kept up a more or less constant pressure upon this section of the Allies' line. In the recent great attempt to break through to the coast, when the enemy first used their diabolical weapon of poisonous gas, the driving in of the line north-east of Ypres was part of the plan. And this attack achieved almost as much as all the other assaults put together. At several points the Germans brought the gases into play, and the Allies were compelled to give ground before them. This happened to the north-west and north-east of Ypres, and the ground thus lost has never been wholly regained. As a matter of fact, we had to give up further positions in order to bring our general line into conformity with those portions which had been driven back.

A TREMENDOUS HANDICAP.

Since the recent great German offensive was checked a particularly ferocious struggle has been going on for vital points directly east of Ypres, including the famous Hill 60. Wherever an opportunity has offered—that is, when the wind is in a favourable quarter—the Germans have freely used their poisonous gases, and it is clear that our troops have had to give ground repeatedly because of this. They were driven off Hill 60 by this means, and they also had to give up a fairly strong position on the Ypres-Zonnebeke railway north of Gheluvelt. The British counter-attacked as soon as it was possible to do so, and many of the lost trenches have been regained; but it is still doubtful whether they are even now in complete possession of Hill 60. The German communique claims that the position north of Gheluvelt is still held by them, and they have also occupied important heights commanding the eastern portion of Ypres. Thus, although our men are fighting heroically, and are beating the Germans every time they meet in a fair fight, the position generally in the Ypres neighbourhood is gradually developing unfavourably to us. It is certainly very "gradually," and up till the present suggests nothing of an immediately critical character; but the very fact that we are not definitely holding our own is sufficient to impress us with the handicap we are accepting if the Germans are to be allowed to go on using poisonous gases without the Allies taking steps to meet them with some equally effective agent of offence. The enemy is now frequently gaining positions of importance, practically without losing a man. The Allies have to await a change of wind before they can think of a counter-attack, and then they can only regain the lost ground at great sacrifice of life. The whole thing represents a process all in favour of the other side, and an alteration in our methods is consequently imperative.

ALLIES' OFFENSIVE FURTHER SOUTH.

In the meantime, however, the Allies have taken a vigorous offensive south of Armentieres, right along the line to the vicinity of Arras. So far there has been no mention of the use of poisonous gases by the Germans in this sector. Perhaps the Ypres district was selected as the scene of the first big trial of this weapon, and they have not yet had time to instal the necessary apparatus further south. The official communiques tell us that the British first army is attacking on a front from the Bois Grenier, about three and a quarter miles south of Armentieres, to Festubert, which is about two and three-quarter miles west of La Bassee; and already they have gained considerable ground in the direction of Fromelles, which is about midway along the line indicated, and three and a half miles to the north-east of Neuve Chapelle. While this effort is being made by the British the French immediately to the south of them are also displaying a strenuous activity, and they report considerable progress towards Loos, about four and three-quarter miles south-east of La Bassee. Thus, the Allied line has been pushed some distance eastward, both to the north and the south of La Bassee, a highly important position, to which the Germans have clung with the utmost tenacity for months. If the present offensive is continued, and meets with further success in the Neuve Chapelle and Loos districts, then there will be good prospects of making the Germans relinquish their grip on La Bassee, for the more the Allied line develops to the north and the south the more acute will become the angle the Germans occupy.

LUSITANIA.

THE SURVIVORS.

LATEST FIGURES.

LIVES LOST NUMBER 1399.

LONDON, May 10.

The Cunard Company states that the survivors comprise 487 passengers and 274 of the crew (a total of 761, saved out of 2160), leaving a death roll of 1399.

One hundred and five first-class passengers were saved, 93 second-class, and eight third-class.

The only officers saved are the first and second officers, also the third engineer.

Mr. Hugh Lane, Mr. Charles Klein, and Mr. Stackhouse, the explorer, are still missing.

PASSENGERS EX NIAGARA.

Except Mrs. Learoyd and maid, all the Niagara's passengers, also Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Mackay (Auckland), are missing.

The following names on the Niagara's list were cabled on Saturday as being among the Lusitania's passengers:—Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Learoyd, Mr. W. Bailey, Mr., Mrs., Miss, and Master Neville, T. Sutherst, G. H. Turton, Mrs. Wickham.

THE DOOMED SHIP.

TORPEDO'S TRAIL.

HAIRBREADTH ESCAPES.

LONDON, May 10.

Mr. George Kessler, the so-called Champagne King, and the host of the freak dinners at the Savoy, states that he saw the trail of a torpedo 30 feet away, then a thud. He did not believe for a moment that the ship would sink. He was in a boat on the opposite side of the list. A minute after it reached the water the Lusitania, which was almost upright a few seconds before, seemed to lurch away. The keel of the vessel caught the bottom of his boat and its thirty occupants were thrown into the water.

"I sank," says Mr. Kessler, "and thought I was gone. But I rose and floated for 10 minutes, and managed to clamber to a small collapsible lifeboat. This overturned eight times through people scrambling in before they were picked up; six out of nine were dead."

Mr. Kessler considered that the Lusitania's speed ought to have been greater. He expected that destroyers would meet and protect the vessel when she reached the war zone.

"WHAT CAN AMERICA DO?"

"It is the greatest murder the world has ever known," said Mr. Kessler, "but what can America do? How will going to war mend matters."

An American family named Gardner, consisting of father, mother, and two sons, who intended to settle in New Zealand were on board. When the torpedo struck the ship Mrs. Gardner fainted, and despite every effort went down with the vessel. The father and sons were thrown into the sea. A boy aged 16 and a half was sucked down, but came to the surface. He was pulled into a boat and found his father prostrate in the bottom of it. The latter did not recover. When the lad reached Queenstown he had a dramatic meeting with his brother, aged 12, who was rescued by another boat. Their tickets have been lost, and they are penniless and friendless.

Mr. Harrison, a young miner, who was returning to enlist, twice gave up his lifebelt to a young married woman with a child. He narrates that he saw a foreigner with five life-belts. Another man seized one, and the foreigner cried like a child.

Harrison, when thrown into the sea, swam to an upturned boat, which was supporting forty-eight others. Men, women, and children were floating head downwards all round. Many had lifebelts. The forty-nine clung to the boat for two hours.

Passengers state that during the latter part of the voyage the Lusitania's course frequently was changed.

A member of the crew told a passenger that the vessel had dodged three submarines.

MISTAKEN FOR WHALE.

The consensus of passengers' opinion is that the liner was going at eighteen knots at the time of the disaster. Several passengers saw the submarine three hundred yards away, and discussed the object. Some thought it was a whale, and another suggested that it was a porpoise. It kept pace with the Lusitania fully a minute before it fired the torpedo. A second torpedo struck the liner four minutes later, and the vessel toppled over as though it was in dry dock and some of the underpinning on the starboard side had been knocked away.

The boats on the port side were full of women and children, but the list prevented them from being launched, and practically all were drowned. There was little suction when the ship went down. She slid into the water like a diver, otherwise many more would have been drowned.

The captain when the water was nearly flush with the bridge, turned to the man at the wheel and said: "Now, try and save yourself. You have no further business here, good-bye!" The captain remained on the bridge.

BEREAVED MOTHERS.

In some instances women on recovering consciousness after being rescued by boats asked for their children, and not finding them went almost mad.

The crowded boats moved over the sea among hundreds who were clinging to wreckage. It was horrifying to see hands slip off and victims disappear with despairing cries.

Lady Allan, wife of Sir Montagu Allan, head of the Allan line, was rescued, but her daughters, aged respectively 14 years and 12 months, were drowned.

Mr. Casseller, a leading wine merchant, who was rescued, lost £400,000 sterling in securities.

It was a harrowing sight to see at least thirty babies laid out in the floor of the temporary morgue at Queenstown.

THE BOATS RUSHED.

Though the quickness of the disaster was some justification, people rushed the crowded boats, despite cries of "Women and children first."

The first boat lowered, which contained the mails and some steerage passengers, capsized. Most of the collapsible boats remained fastened.

When the boats on the starboard side were safely launched they were in terrible danger owing to the superstructure slowly descending. The funnels and davits killed many, and also fouled several boats.

UNITED STATES.

WAR NOT LIKELY.

OTHER ACTION POSSIBLE.

LONDON, May 10.

The "Daily Chronicle's" New York correspondent opines that President Wilson will not ask Congress to go to war with Germany, but may notify that upon the recurrence of attacks on non-combatants America will withdraw every restriction hitherto placed on the supply of arms and ammunition to the Allies, and even facilitate it, or may withdraw the hospitality afforded to German shipping.

GERMAN POLICY.

MUST BE RENOUNCED.

NEW YORK, May 10.

Germany is generally described as the madman of Europe, and it is suggested that neutrals should combine to bind him up. The "Tribune" demands that Germany shall renounce her policy of assassination, otherwise she must be forced to do so, not to avenge the dead, but to defend the living.

Mr. Wickersham, ex-Attorney-General, appeals to the people of the United States to abandon the present sexless policy and cancel relations with Germany. An extra session of Congress could appropriate an extra 250 million dollars and put the country in a condition to protect its rights as a neutral and civilised Power.

GRAVE SITUATION.

The "New York Herald" says the gravity of the situation arising from the Lusitania's loss is unmatched in American history since the Civil War. This colossal, cold-blooded outrage will cause such a blinding white light of indignation in the neutral world, that there cannot conceivably be any thought of Washington's turning back from the Note of the 10th of February.

PUBLIC HOSTILITY.

WASHINGTON, May 9.

At the opening of the Horse Show visitors protested against girls selling "Kaiser Bloom," the German national flower.

Several persons trampled on the flowers and ejected the sellers.

CUNARDER SAILS.

DESPITE GERMAN WARNINGS.

The Cunard liner Transylvania has sailed for England with 879 passengers. Only twelve cancelled their passages.

The German advertisement warning passengers that the Atlantic must be regarded as a war zone has reappeared in the newspapers.

THE PASSENGERS.

MR. C. A. LEAROYD.

Mr. C. A. Learoyd, who, together with Mrs. Learoyd, was reported yesterday as being amongst the passengers on the Lusitania, was a member of the firm of Learoyd and Boggio wool merchants, of Malcolm-buildings, off Bond-street, Sydney.

Mr. F. W. Learoyd, of Weus and Co., woolbrokers, Young-street, and a brother of Mr. C. A. Learoyd, received cable advice from Mrs. Learoyd yesterday to the effect that she and her maid had been saved, but that her husband had not, so far as she could learn, been found. The cablegram expressed a hope that Mr. Learoyd might be rescued later on, but up to a late hour last night his brother in Sydney had received no further news.

MR. W. J. BAILEY SAFE.

It is now learned that Mr. W. J. Bailey, of Messrs. Farmer and Co., Ltd., could not have been a passenger on the Lusitania, as was reported yesterday. The firm received a cablegram from Mr. James Chalmers, managing director of Farmer and Co., Limited, on Friday morning last, stating that both he and Mr. Bailey (who is accompanying Mr. Chalmers on a business tour) were well, and were still in Los Angeles. This was quite in keeping with their programme when they left here.

SPORTSMEN ENLIST.

RUGBY UNION VOLUNTEERS.

LIST TOTALS 676.

There were 58 names added to the Rugby Union honour list yesterday, which brings the total list of names so far received at the office of affiliated footballers who have enlisted for active service to 676. Of the number recorded yesterday the Bellinger River Union contributed 40, which places it second on the list (Manly has sent 42), and as the secretary intimates that there are several more to follow, the Union is plainly a candidate for the top position. The leading bodies now are:—Manly, 42; Bellinger, 40; Eastern Suburbs, 38; New England, 37; University, 36. Following are the names:—

Names previously published, 618.

CITIZEN DUTY.

The Rev. Henry Howard, of Adelaide, speaking yesterday at the anniversary meeting of the Central Methodist Mission, expressed the earnest hope that the young men of Australia would qualify themselves to take up arms in defence of the Empire. Any man who felt he should go to the front, said Mr. Howard, should not stay at the back. This call was a duty each man owed to his country, to his wife and family, and to all the sacred institutions of the Commonwealth. He had no sympathy with a man who would sit down and enjoy all the comforts without taking his part to win them. It was a holy and righteous war—a war for Christianity. (Applause.)

PROMINENT FOOTBALLER.

Mr. R. W. Poulton, whose death was announced in yesterday's issue as killed in action, was one of the most brilliant players in the three-quarter line that Great Britain ever turned out. He figured as captain of the All England side during the past two years, and also played for his country for the last five years as centre-three-quarter, after representing the Cambridge University. Shortly before the war broke out he inherited a huge fortune, and one of the conditions of the will made him adopt the name of Palmer, and he was known as R. W. Poulton-Palmer.

LATE WAR NEWS.

AIR RAIDERS.

ON ESSEX TOWNS.

EIGHTY BOMBS DROPPED.

LONDON, May 10.

Details of the air raid on England by Germans show that the raiding airship flew over the marine parade at Southend (Essex), and dropped a number of bombs.

One bomb missed the gasworks, but wrecked a house in York-road, injuring a soldier who was asleep. The several explosions shattered windows within half a mile.

Another bomb missed Saint Erkenwald's Church, which is conspicuous on a hill top.

Another set fire to buildings in a builder's yard near Saint Erkenwald's.

A bomb wrecked the House of Prittlewell.

Mistress Whitwell was killed through leaping from a window. Her husband was severely injured.

There were a dozen outbreaks of fire at Westcliff.

An attempt to bomb the gasworks at Leigh failed.

Bombs were dropped all round Queen Mary Hospital, also Canvey Island, seven miles west of Southend.

The Zeppelin, it is stated, dropped upwards of 80 bombs. She then fled seawards.

When she was sighted, the aeroplane was off Sheerness.

THE RECRUITS.

MORE MEN.

REGISTER NOT REQUIRED.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

The Prime Minister of New Zealand, Mr. Massey, has suggested that men not kept at home by family ties or duties should register their names, so as to be ready when wanted.

The reply of the Minister for Defence was that there was no occasion to do so here. Two means were open for men—one being to enlist for active service, and the other to join rifle clubs for home defence.

Trooper E. J. Love, who has been transferred to the ammunition column, was entertained at the Redfern Town Hall last week. He was the recipient of several presentations, including a wristlet watch.

Lieut. Arch. Gilder (who is a member of the "Herald" reporting staff), after concluding a riding test at Liverpool Camp last week, was thrown from his horse, and, falling heavily on his head, received concussion of the brain. He was taken to the field hospital, and, after being there some days, was removed, at his father's wish, to his home at Hurstville. He is now making a good recovery. Mr. Gilder had been for some time a first lieutenant in the citizen forces, and on deciding to enlist for the front threw in his lot with the Light Horse. He intended to go as a trooper, as he was not old enough to apply for a commission. At a meeting of members of the Press Rifle Club on Saturday evening, a motion of sympathy with Mr. Gilder was carried. From the formation of the club Mr. Gilder had rendered invaluable service as one of its instructors.

The council of the New South Wales Rugby Union farewelled and entertained Major M'Manamey (president), Lieut. Middleton (vice-president), and Corporal Beddie (management committee), who are proceeding to the front with the next contingent, at the Rugby Rooms last week.

The members of the Manly Club gathered at the local oval on Saturday to do honour to A. Buckley, a forward who has played every competition game since the club was admitted to first grade.

A farewell supper was given on Saturday night at The Arcadia, North Sydney, to Messrs. A. C. Boxsell, W. T. Meggitt, and R. J. T. Forsyth, members of the North Sydney branch of the National Reserve who are going to the front.

Mr. W. Matthews, of Campsie, formerly an employee of Snashall's, Ltd., of Bellevue-street, city, who has enlisted, was on Tuesday last presented with a silver-mounted pipe in case, on behalf of Messrs. Snashall, senior and junior, and with a wristlet watch and a supply of cigarettes, on behalf of the employees.

SINGLETON, Monday.

Major J. H. O'Halloran, who is going to the front, was farewelled on Saturday night by the non-coms. and men of C Company, 14th Infantry, and many civilians.

Lieutenant Cantwell, who presided, presented Major O'Halloran with a wristlet watch.

Miss Kathleen Doyle, sister of Mr. G. V. Doyle, Patrick Plains Shire engineer, has been accepted as a nurse for the front. During the past two years Miss Doyle has occupied the position of matron of the Coonabarabran Hospital.

STATE PREMIERS.

A STRONG RESOLUTION.

"GERMAN ADMIRALS SHOULD BE TRIED FOR MURDER."

The Conference of State Premiers was occupied for hours yesterday afternoon in the consideration of a resolution put before it by Mr. Holman, Premier of New South Wales, in connection with the war, and with particular reference to the sinking of the Lusitania.

"We may assume," said Mr. Holman, "that England has about one million men in the field, and that every effort is being put forth to get another million men into action. While we are in a position of numerical inferiority on both frontiers, it has paid our Allied commanders to adopt those tactics which enabled them to inflict far greater losses than they experienced. So far, thanks to the skill of our generals, and the superior fighting power of our men, we have maintained our ground against superior numbers. But, clearly, that is never going to end the war. The hope of the Allies is to resume the offensive against Germany, and drive her troops out of Belgium and France. The British Government is straining every nerve to bring that second million men into the field as rapidly as possible, and we can be assured that it is only by their presence, and the presence of all the contingents that can be sent from the Dominions, that numerical advantage can be brought to our side.

"The destruction of the Lusitania is a crime which calls to Heaven for punishment. It is the duty of the civilised world to see that a crime like this is punished. It is the duty of the Allies to bring all those responsible for it to justice. I hope Great Britain will never, under any circumstances, consent to any terms for the termination of the war which do not provide for the placing of the whole of the officers of the German Admiralty, who are responsible for the campaign against merchant vessels, on their trial before British juries for murder on the high seas.

"If desperate atrocities of this kind," he continued, "can be permitted to go unpunished, then civilisation has failed fundamentally. There can be no hope for the future unless these men's crimes can be brought home to them. It is now in the hands of the Allies, and in their hands alone, to secure this great gain for civilisation. Australia is but a feeble power when contrasted with the might of the German Empire. But still we can contribute towards pulling down the general enemy. As citizens of Australia, we cannot disperse until we have offered our total services in the common cause."

Mr. Holman then moved the following resolution:—

(1) "That this conference expresses its high appreciation of the efforts of the Federal Government during the present unprecedented struggle."

(2) "That, in the opinion of this conference, the deep indignation felt throughout Australia at the sinking of the Lusitania should find immediate expression in increased participation in the war."

(3) "That, with a view to affording practical help to the Federal Government, the States undertake to utilise the resources at their command for any further effort in recruiting which the Federal Government may deem to be desirable, and in providing all such military requisites as it is within the power of the States to supply."

(4) "That the various State workshops and State employees be placed at the disposal of the Federal Government for the manufacture of any requirement for which they are adapted."

(5) "That the States join in an offer of skilled mechanics to be sent to Great Britain to assist in the manufacture of war material."

(6) "That the foregoing resolutions be conveyed to the Federal Government, with an assurance of the earnest desire of the States to support their exertions to the utmost."

Sir Alexander Peacock, Premier of Victoria, said the resolution would, he was sure be appreciated by the Federal Government.

The resolution was carried unanimously.

THE CRIMINALS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—With the news of this last great German outrage fresh upon us, one's thoughts naturally tend towards a method of solution as to how to prevent a recurrence, and failing that, how to bring the perpetrators of these crimes to book. In England the crews of captured submarines are being held apart from other prisoners with a possibility of being dealt with after the war. This treatment has in no wise led to diminished activity on the part of German submarines, but, on the other hand, it has led to reprisals by the Germans on honourable English prisoners of war. The reason for this action on the part of the British Admiralty not having had the desired effect shows us plainly that the actual criminals in these murders are not the men in the submarines, who, if they refused to obey orders, would simply be shot. The same might be said of the Zeppelin crews that bomb defenceless towns, and also of the men who set free the poisonous gases in the trenches. They are not the actual criminals, but the men who send out the orders that they shall do these things, namely, the German Admiralty, Count Zeppelin, and co., and the great German war staff, with the German Emperor at their head—these are the real murderers. Now, as to the remedy. Let the Allies conjointly notify Germany that unless all these outrages and crimes against humanity cease at once, no terms of peace shall be entertained until the German Admiralty and great German war staff shall either have been handed over or captured. They would then have to stand their trial for murder, like common felons, and if found guilty, "hanged." If the hanging came to pass one might go further, and do it in the old way, as they did with highwaymen and pirates—hang them at the cross roads upon a gallows tree, that their foul deeds might smell above the earth with carrion men, groaning for burial. As a rule men who order others to commit murder, knowing themselves to be safe, are cowards at heart, and when they know that their own skins are in danger they will very soon find some excuse for calling off this "exhibition of kultur," and if they don't, there will be at any rate the satisfaction of knowing that a day of reckoning would come; not that I would suggest for one moment that the lives of the German Admiralty and General Staff would compensate for the lives lost through these outrages; to say such a thing would be an insult to our brave dead, by whose loss the civilised world is the poorer, whereas the hanging of the German general staff and Admiralty would merely be ridding the world of dangerous vermin.

I am, etc.,
MEDICUS.

May 9.

TO PUNISH GERMANY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—In view of the recent murderous attack on innocents and peaceful citizens from all parts of the world by a nation, the heads of which have no idea of the meaning of honour, whose morality is debased, and who, by their wanton outrages, have reduced their status below that of the cannibals in the eyes of the whole world (excepting Germany and Austria), it seems incumbent that some decisive action should be taken by the rest of the civilised world, by which the whole Germanic nation would be made to feel the seriousness of their action, and not jubilate over such heinous crimes as those committed of late by poisonous gas and torpedoing passenger ships, which has the appearance of the desperation of despair.

I suggest that all Germans or German sympathisers (if any can be found who are not German born and bred), excepting prisoners of war, should be sent to Germany, their possessions confiscated by the Crown, and sold to the highest bidder. The proceeds to go towards reimbursing for loss and injuries inflicted on peaceable non-combatant citizens and their belongings. Let us put the cost of maintenance of these people on the Germans themselves. Some will be drafted into the fighting ranks, but what matter. It may prolong their defeat for a few hours or even days, but we will be rid of them for all time. Once out, keep out, should be the order. Make them live on themselves and with themselves, and for us to form an association to bind ourselves for the rest of our lives, to decline to purchase or receive any good made in Germany or its dependencies.

I am, etc.,
JOHN M. ATKINSON.

May 10.

MAKING MUNITIONS.

The Premier has sent on to the Prime Minister the following letter, which he had received:—"I read in the press about wanting men for munition work in England, and if men were available immediate steps would be taken. Sir, I would like you to write back to me, and state particulars as to the passage and wages, etc. My occupation is fitter, as I can say I have not done any work like that, but that does not say I can't."

BELGIAN DAY.

A LETTER BY KING ALBERT.

FOR AUCTION SALE.

The chief consideration in the Belgian Day campaign for to-day is the auction of seats at Her Majesty's at noon for the gala matinee next Friday. Mr. Arthur Rickard has undertaken to take control of the sale, and is furnishing a staff of clerks. He will have as auxiliary auctioneers, Miss Muriel Starr, Miss Violet Paget, Miss Lizette Parkes, Miss Dolly Castles, Mr. Lincoln Plumer, Mr. Arthur Styant, Mr. Frank Harvey, Mr. Jack M'Ardle, and Mr. Barry Lupino. The programme is unique, and the day should be electrical.

LETTER IN KING ALBERT'S WRITING.

A boyish association of King Albert of the Belgians in New South Wales has been suddenly brought to light. It is in the form of "a scrap of paper."

This has been placed in Mr. Hugh Ward's hands, by Miss McShane, of Derryvale, Lurline-street, Katoomba, to be sold at auction, at the matinee on Belgian Day, at Her Majesty's.

Miss McShane wrote to Mr. Ward as follows:—

"My father's sister was English governess in the Belgian Royal family, and until he was old enough for a tutor the present King Albert was taught by her. She then stayed on as companion until both the Princesses were married. In 1886 my father visited his sister in Brussels, and saw a good deal of the Royal family, especially the children, who remembered him until his death, and sometimes wrote, and sent him photographs. The letter I am sending you is an acknowledgment of an illustrated guide of New South Wales railways. As you will see, the little prince, now a brave leader of brave men, expressed a wish to visit this country. I am offering the letter to be auctioned at the matinee on Friday. How little that boy thought, when writing his simple and gracious little letter to my father, that it would one day be sold to buy bread for the unhappy people whose noble King he now is."

The letter written in an unformed boyish hand reads as follows:—

"My dear Mr. McShane,—

"I am very sorry not to have thanked you sooner for the beautiful and interesting railway book you had the goodness to send me.

"I read it with great pleasure, and I admire very much the fine photographs which are in it, and I hope once to go and visit that magnificent country.

"I wish you a happy Christmas and many happy New Years, and

I remain,
"Yours sincerely,
"ALBERT.

"Brussels, December 16th, 1887."

TWENTY-FOUR £500 CHEQUES.

Five hundred pound cheques punctuated Mr. Ward's account yesterday. The first was in the mail, from Mr. F. M. Clements. M'Cathie Ltd., was the next. "We hope to see you put up the world's record," the covering letter remarked. Mr. Ed. Resch called on Mr. Ward. "I would like to be one with £500," he stated, and passed in his cheque. Mr. Percy Hunter received a £500 cheque from Mr. James C. White, of Edinglassie, Muswellbrook, and telephoned Mr. Ward to that effect. By this time Mr. Ward had put in his own cheque as the twentieth. Messrs. Anthony Hordern and Sons, Ltd., sent a cheque for £500 during the afternoon, and Mrs. Isabella Dwyer, of Manly, telephoned that she was anxious to contribute £500. "I can't sleep at nights thinking of the terrible misery of the unhappy Belgians," she said. This brought the list up to 24, as follows:—

Mr. John Hunter	£500
Mr. Sam Hordern	£500
Mr. Anthony Hordern	£500
New South Wales Railway and Tramway War Fund	£500
Mr. J. Joynton Smith, M.L.C.	£500
Mr. Charles W. Bennett	£500
Mr. Lebbeus Hordern	£500
Messrs. David Cohen and Co., Ltd.	£500
Mr. Wallace J. Carson	£500
Mr. F. G. Sargood	£500
Mr. Francis T. White	£500
Mr. N. C. Bucknell	£500
Mr. Wm. Macleod	£500
The Civic Club	£500
Employees of W. D. and H. O. Wills (Australia), Ltd., British-Australasian Tobacco Co. Pty., Ltd., and States Tobacco Co. Pty., Ltd.	£500
Mr. T. A. Dibbs	£500
Mr. R. Craig	£500
Mr. F. M. Clements	£500
McCathie, Ltd.	£500
Mr. Hugh J. Ward	£500
Mr. Ed. Resch	£500
Mr. James C. White	£500
Messrs. Anthony Hordern and Sons, Ltd.	£500
Mrs. Isabella Dwyer	£500

"Let us go for forty at least—£20,000—before the dawn of Belgian Day," said Mr. Ward last night.

The offer of the anonymous lady to give £25 if 19 other ladies would do the same, and to make up a £500 cheque, has nearly achieved the object it sought to accomplish. The list now stands:—

Mrs. John Hunter	£25
Mrs. C. Conway	£25
Anonymous	£25
Mrs. R. T. Carter	£25
Mrs. Victor White	£25
Mrs. Spencer Nolan	£25
Mrs. Board Marshall	£25
Mrs. Florence A. Vindin	£25
Anonymous	£25
Miss Flora Macarsh	£25
Miss S. C. Brennan	£25
Mrs. M. A. E. Lea	£25
Mrs. J. C. Pratt	£25
Misses Stella and Hilda Pratt	£25

This leaves four more and the anonymous originator of the appeal, only to secure the £500.

Mr. Ward asked last night that anyone with windows, verandahs, balconies—any vantage coign—along the route of the pageant (to be announced to-morrow) should charge for positions, giving the amount so raised to Belgian Day.

The organisation of the street collections is remarkably efficient. The city has been divided into 97 sections, and the suburbs into 280 sections, with a lady stallholder at the head of each section. In all, over 6000 collectors will operate on the day. This has been made possible by the amalgamation of the Hospital Saturday and United Charities organisations.

The Town Hall is being converted into a huge banking chamber. In the evening a wonderful scene will be presented by the hundreds of collectors paying in to 59 tellers. So interesting will the sight be that it has been decided to charge 2s 6d admission to the Town Hall galleries to witness it. A flashlight will be taken at 8.30 p.m. Money will be received at the Town Hall from 9 a.m. till 10.30 p.m., and periodical counts of the progress of the day will be recorded on a huge barometer in front of the civic building. All the suburban banks will be open to receive money from 1 p.m. till 6, and from 6.30 till 8.30.

ENTHUSIASM IN THE COUNTRY.

A great many encouraging assurances have been received by the joint secretaries at Challis House from the branches of the National Fund in the country districts of co-operation on Belgian Day. At Collie a race meeting is being held in aid of the fund, and the residents have decided to make on that day a universal appeal in the district for funds. Culcairn writes that every effort is being made to make a "great day" there on Friday. There is a tremendous demand for small flags for sale in that town. One western town says: "Although the drought has hit us up very badly, we are determined to do our best on Friday for our gallant friends, the Belgians." In response to Mr. Ward's appeal for cheques of £500, the Mayor of this town writes: "I am just putting on my hat to go out and find a man to give us a cheque." Some of the country towns are going in in vigorous fashion for the sale of flags and similar Belgian emblems. Warren asks for six gross of mementoes for sale on Belgian Day, and the town clerk there says: "The residents of the town and district will be invited to assemble in the main part of the town at 12.45 p.m., when the band will play the respective national anthems of the Belgians and the Empire. His Worship the Mayor will address the assemblage, and then the people will disperse to drink the health of the King of the Belgians. The afternoon will be taken up by the auction of gifts, and in the evening a concert will be given. On the whole, we anticipate having a very successful day." The Mayor of Moree writes:—"We have just got through a big patriotic effort, and are, unfortunately, in the throes of a pronounced drought, but the big heart of this district has again shown a sympathetic throb in the Belgian cause. We held a public meeting yesterday, when it was resolved to have a street collection on the lines of Hospital Saturday, with sports in the afternoon, at which auctions will be held, and a ball at night. A distinguishing feature of yesterday's meeting was the offer of the local school children to forego their annual sports and picnic on Empire Day, so that the money saved could go to the Belgian fund. It shows that the juvenile Australian heart is in the right place." Mrs. Massey, hon. secretary, of Glenbrook, says: "We are working hard to make the day a success so far as our little township is concerned." The hon. secretary at Narrandera writes: "We have a good working committee on the go, and everything bids well for a successful procession which we are arranging for Belgian Day. I shall do my best to push the good work on." The Mayor of Harden says: "Everyone is enthusiastic about the 14th, and I expect a great day. I hope it will be a record for the State." The Mayor of Muswellbrook writes: "I have called a public meeting to see what special effort can be made for the 14th." Mr. E. A. M'Mahon, hon. secretary for Hornsby, says "the local shire council has decided to ask all business people and others to decorate their premises. A short ceremony will take place at the school, and in the evening various bodies will give entertainments." Mr. G. T. Cable, hon. secretary for Tamworth and district, says: "A complete programme has been arranged for on the lines suggested." The Mayor of Gundagai, Mr. W. A. Wright says: "I received information regarding the gifts of £500 towards Belgian Day, and I am going out to try and get the desired party. We have all arrangements made for a big turnout here on Belgian Day. We have decided to toast King Albert of Belgium, and, in addition, we are holding a nigger minstrel show, concert, and sale of gifts on the night of the 14th. The matter of Belgian Day has been taken up with great enthusiasm here, and all sections of the community are working their hardest for the day, and I am in hopes of Gundagai doing everything expected of it." Mr. J. A. Gilroy, shire clerk of Ku-ring-gai, says: "The council heartily co-operates with you in the movement, and will do all in its power to make it a success." Mr. George G. Lee, town clerk of Parkes, says: "At the meeting called to consider the question of Belgian Day there was a great attendance, and the matter was most enthusiastically taken up. The Chief Secretary has been asked to declare the 14th a public holiday, so that everyone will have an opportunity of taking part in the effort. Committees have been arranged to give effect to the resolutions carried, and the programme will follow along the lines suggested in your circular." Mr. Frank Byrne, joint hon. secretary at Yass, says: "Our arrangements are well ahead, and everyone appears to be taking a lively interest. We have horses, sheep, etc., donated for the auction sale, together with other things of lesser value. Can you get me a Belgian flag in time for the 14th inst.? Such would have the first place in our procession, and would be sold at auction afterwards. We have not got a public holiday, but to-day every business person in the place has signed an agreement to close at 12 noon on Belgian Day, which, in a country town, is a better arrangement for any public function. Given a fine day, we hope to have the biggest show we ever had."

Mr. E. E. A. Oatley writes:—There is a desire on the part of those interested in sport to make a record for this object; therefore, permit me to suggest to all nominators the advisability of an early scratching of horses not intended to take part at the meeting, in order to assist the handicapper in his tedious work, and in addition lighten the labour of compiling the race books.

BELGIAN DAY, MAY 14, 1915.

Messrs. Hunter and Beavis, joint hon. secretaries, Challis House, Sydney, acknowledge the receipt on 10th inst. of the amounts mentioned hereunder:—To amount previously acknowledged, £517 11s; James C. White, £500; Miss Cecilia H. Stephens, £3 3s; Q. L. Deloitte, £5. Total, £1025 14s.

Yesterday morning John T. Lloyd, 45, was found dead at the Lalla Rookh Hotel, City-road, Darlington, with a gash in his throat and a blood-stained razor by his side.

DOMINO DISPUTE.

An inquiry was held by the City Coroner (Mr. H. B. Hawkins) into the cause of death of Percy William M'Leod. Evidence stated that the deceased had a dispute on April 23 about dominoes in a hotel at Rozelle. He was found dead later on outside the hotel. The Coroner found that M'Leod died from the effects of injuries to his head, accidentally caused by falling, after having been pushed down by Arthur Knowles whilst defending himself against M'Leod.

SOUTH AFRICA.

NO DETAILS OF CASUALTIES.

Some time ago a cable message was received from South Africa stating that there had been over 20 casualties during the fighting there, mostly in German South-west Africa. The father of an Australian boy who has been fighting for the last eight months in South Africa states that he can obtain no information whatever as to whether his son is alive or wounded. He went on to point out that it would relieve the minds of many Australian relatives of those fighting in South Africa if the Commonwealth Government would arrange with the South African Government to cable the names of all Australians killed or wounded in the Union, as is now being done from the Dardanelles.

SICKNESS IN EGYPT.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

A statement in a letter written by Major J. W. Barrett from Egypt some time ago to the effect that 2000 Australians were on the sick list on any given day was referred by the Defence authorities to the officials in Egypt for an explanation.

In a cable message from Colonel Selheim it is stated that what Major Barrett intended to convey was that the average number of sick remaining in hospital and with the unit each day was 2000. This would mean about 6 per cent. of sickness, and included venereal cases and casuals. The number, Colonel Selheim added, was not excessive, and the conditions were at the time of cabling better. A medical committee appointed by the Director of Medical Services in Egypt was inquiring into the causes of the sickness.

FOREIGN MISSIONS.

CHRISTIANITY CHALLENGED.

HAS EUROPE A MESSAGE?

The public meeting convened by the Presbyterian General Assembly last evening in St. Stephen's Church, Phillip-street, was attended by an audience which taxed the utmost powers of accommodation. The meeting was held under the direct auspices of the Foreign Missions branch, and the Moderator, Rev. R. Scott West, was in the chair. Rev. R. J. H. McGowen, secretary for foreign missions, was the convenor.

Rev. Dr. Gunn, who is a missionary of the United Free Church, described the work of the mission at Futuna and the New Hebrides, and Dr. Flora Innes related her experiences as a medical missionary at Sholinghur in India. An interesting account of his work among the Chinese in Sydney was given by the Rev. Young Wai.

Rev. R. J. H. McGowen said that the present position was peculiar. They were trying to take Christ's message to people who had never heard it, whereas the nations of Europe, who were supposed to be Christians, were engaged in a bloodthirsty conflict, the very antithesis of Christ's teaching. There were men of gigantic intellect in the East who were declaring that Europe held no message in trust for the world. The men who were seeking to convert asked us for an explanation of the facts before them. In its very nature, the war was a challenge to Christianity.

During the day the members of the conference were entertained at a river excursion by the Women's Missionary Association.

KING EDWARD'S HORSE.

The Premier has received the following cable message from the Agent-General:—"King Edward's Horse: No need to advise me of any more names. Authorities have agreed to accept all suitable men who present themselves."

The message added that candidates for commissions would be welcomed in the ranks, and when opportunities occur fully qualified members would be recommended for commissions.

PETROLEUM.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

The Minister for Customs (Mr. Tudor) received a deputation to-day from representatives of the local crude petroleum industry, who asked for a duty of 1d a gallon, or 19s 11d a ton, on imports of crude petroleum.

The deputation said that boring for oil had been successful in South Australia.

Another member of the deputation suggested a bonus as preferable to the duty. Mr. Tudor, in reply, said a duty of 50 per cent. was being asked for to protect something that did not exist. It was a most unusual request. Australia used 20 million gallons of kerosene annually, and in 15 years had not produced half a million gallons. He would consider the question of a bonus.

BUILDING CANBERRA.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

The Minister for Home Affairs (Mr. Archibald) stated to-day that he would shortly revive the competition for designs for the Federal Parliament building at Canberra. Competition will be confined to the British Empire. He would send a copy to Mr. Griffin, winner of the first prize for the Federal plan, and to the Federal Institute of Architects. The competition was only for the Parliamentary, and not the administrative, buildings.

DISASTROUS FIRE.

ROMA (Q.), Monday.

A most disastrous fire occurred this morning. The premises of the following were destroyed:—Royal Hotel, Mills and McDonald's auction rooms, G. Malley, tailor; Arnold, saddler; Spencer's auction rooms, McDonald's cycle works; David Webster, baker; Wieneke, saddler; Nelson, tobacconist; and Miss Dean, dressmaker. The Royal Hotel, which was erected five years ago at a cost of £5000, was the scene of the outbreak. The licensee, J. E. Maldens, with Mrs. Maldens, was absent at the time. The hotel is insured for £3000, furniture £1500, and stock £500.

FINANCIAL.

NICHOLSON AND CO., LTD.

At the annual general meeting of shareholders of the above company, which took place at the registered office of the company on the 6th inst., in the absence of the chairman, Mr. George Morgan, who had been called away by a family bereavement, the chair was taken by Mr. Alderman McElhone. In moving the adoption of the report, he drew attention to the very satisfactory results of the year's trading, and especially to the reduction of the bank overdraft during the twelve months by over £41,000. The report was adopted, and a dividend at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum declared. Several of the shareholders addressed the meeting, and all united in expressing gratification with the results of the year's trading, in view of the abnormal circumstances occasioned by the war and drought.

CONTRACTS AND THE WAR.

"N. R. B." writes:—

Sir,—Will you please tell me how I stand in the following case: Early last year (1914) I indented one crate of teasets from a German or Austrian merchant in Sydney, also from the same man four crates of cups and saucers, and one crate of vases at certain low prices. I saw him after the war started, and asked him if the goods were coming out, and he told me he did not think so. I saw him again some weeks later about it, and he said he did not think that I would get them; perhaps, he said, they might come out after the war. Again, another indent agent told me that the war had cancelled all contracts. Is that right? Now, the first one tells me that the teasets are coming out, and he wants to force me to take them at the increased cost, whatever that might amount to (the ship was held up at Capetown for some months), or else sell them at my risk. Can he do so? The goods should have been here before last Christmas. He says the contract is good, and if that is so, cannot I compel him to deliver the other goods, or make up the difference in the price, which is a lot more now? When I was told the contracts were cancelled by the war, I destroyed mine, thinking they were no more good.

If the goods were shipped prior to the outbreak of war, the buyer must take delivery and pay war risk insurance and extra freight if any. If the balance of the goods should, according to the terms of the contract, have been shipped prior to the outbreak of war, then an action would be for breach of contract. If not, then the contract is merely suspended till the war is over.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

The Mount Lyell and Railway Co., Ltd., has declared a dividend of 1s per share.

Last month 51,148 fine ounces of gold were received at the Sydney branch of the Royal Mint, making 151,193 fine ounces, valued at £612,228, since January 1.

INTERSTATE EXCHANGES.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

To-day's sales were:—Melbourne Electric Consol Stock, 28/3; ditto (new), 26/9; Melbourne Tramway, 30/, 35/10½; Amalgamated Pictures, 15/9; B.H. Water, 8/2; Howard Smith, 24/6; Victorian Coffee Palace, 15/9; Wunderlich, 20/; Caledonian Collieries (ord.), 25/6; E. S. and A. Bank Debentures, 16/6.

WAR PROBLEMS.

CARGOES ON ZIETEN AND SEYDLITZ.

Some little time back the Chamber of Commerce approached the Imperial authorities relative to the position of German steamers having cargo on board which would be of use to the enemy. Particular attention was drawn to the fact that the Zieten, which was at Mozambique, had on board about 1200 tons of bar copper and about 400 tons of bar lead when she left Australia. In the case of the Seydlitz, which was at Valparaiso, there was about 800 tons of bar copper on board. It was pointed out to the Imperial authorities that attempts would probably be made by the Germans to get these large parcels of metals into Germany through neutral ports, without regard or consideration for the holders of the bills of lading.

The Chamber of Commerce has now been informed by the Secretary of State for the Colonies (through the Governor-General) that, as regards the Zieten, the British Vice-Consul at Mozambique is taking steps with a view to preventing the sale of the copper she has on board. In the case of the Seydlitz, his Majesty's Minister at Santiago is sending a report to the Imperial Government as to the general question of the recovery of the British cargo on board enemy vessels in Chilian ports.

S.S. MAGDEBURG.

The Chamber of Commerce has received from the London Chamber of Commerce a copy of a special circular dealing with the various enemy steamers interned or sheltering in various ports. In regard to the Magdeburg, now at New York, the following report is made:—

"Unofficial information with regard to this vessel has reached the Chamber as follows (under date February 26):—

"There is no change to report in the situation regarding this vessel. She still lies at anchor in the Powder Grounds at Gravesend Bay. It is believed that efforts have been made to dispose of the dynamite, melinite, and other high explosives on board, but these have been unsuccessful, in consequence of the extreme restrictions imposed on the articles of sale and purchase.

"It is doubtful whether anything will be done in this matter until the cessation of hostilities, it being imperative to dispose of the explosives before the vessel can shift from her present anchorage; if unable to dispose of same, to attempt to discharge into lighters would be so costly that by the time the war was closed and the matter could be adjusted, the expenses might exceed the value of the material.

"A cablegram received from New York on March 15, states: 'No change to report regarding this vessel, not yet commenced the discharge.'"

COMMERCIAL.

THE MARKETS.

The principal news in the metal market yesterday was the announcement that prices of Australian wire netting would be advanced to £55 per mile basis on June 1 or sooner. The matter is dealt with below. Good business was done in black and galvanised wires. No. 8 black and No. 10 galvanised were both extremely scarce. For No. 8 black £14/5/ was asked in small lots, and even for parcels the same price was quoted. For No. 10 the price varied between £14 and £14/10/, the latter being asked by those whose stocks were extremely small. No. 8 galvanised was worth £16/10/, and No. 10 up to £18. Galvanised iron was steady at the advance noted a week ago. Some sizes could not be furnished. Cutting has been proceeding in Everton's spring-head nails, galvanised, used in fixing galvanised sheets. Yesterday, however, the manufacturers announced an advance to 6/ per thousand for plain and 6/9 for twisted. Imported cement was practically off the market. A few who had small quantities offered at 20/ per cask delivered. A heavy business was done forward in Danish cement at prices which show little reduction on present rates. No doubt the certificate of origin will be forthcoming. Tinned plates had attention. Sales of 28 by 20 were made at 44/, and 20 by 14 at 22/6. The c.i.f. price was given as in the vicinity of 20/9, with an advancing tendency. Lead prices were without alteration.

The oil market was firm all round. Linseed oil was cabled by Blundell, Spence, and Co. at 2/8 f.o.b. for immediate shipment, and at 2/8¾ for shipment June-August. Local rates were unchanged at 4/7 and 4/9 for first brands, and 4/6 and 4/7 for second brands. All turpentine available at 4/4 was taken off the market, and holders asked 4/6. There was, however, little to be obtained at that price. Zinc white, in consequence of the heavy advance in spelter, was put up £7/10/ a ton, Green Seal being quoted at £55, Red Seal at £53, and Blue Seal at £50.

The tea market was waiting prices by the mail. The samples were to hand, and showed fair quality.

A good business was done in Morocco canary seed, but for prompt and for June-July shipment. The forward position is a little dearer, lots selling at £30/10/ for June-July, against £30 for prompt shipment c.i.f. and e., plus war risks.

Private cablegrams from Calcutta stated that labour troubles had occurred at a couple of the mills, and that in consequence the April deliveries would be short shipped. One message asserted that May and June shipments would also be affected. These reports resulted in a much improved demand for woolpacks, and prices were firmer. Spot stocks were worth 3/5, and March-April shipment 3/4 net to rails. May shipment was offered at 3/4, and June-July at 3/3 net. There was some inquiry for cornsacks at from 6/6½ to 6/7 net. Branbags were neglected at 5/2 net to rails.

WIRE NETTING.

The expected happened in wire netting yesterday. The local manufacturers announced that prices would be raised, though not just at present. It depends upon how long stocks of spelter bought at what are now comparatively cheap rates will last. When the present price of £50 per mile was fixed, spelter was £44/10/ per ton. That was on March 15. To-day spelter is £67 per ton. The announcement was made by letter to the merchants, the letter being to the effect that, owing to the exorbitant price of spelter, it would be necessary to advance materially prices as soon as the present small stock of the metal is exhausted. The manufacturers declared that they had no wish to make an undue profit on stocks, and therefore notified that the price on and after June 1, or after such time as present stocks are exhausted, would be raised by £5 per mile in the case of 44 42 x 1½ x 17A, down to £2/12/6 per mile in the case of 33 x 1½ x 18B. Orders received would be subject to these conditions. Discounts would be allowed as before, although it might be necessary to reduce them in the near future. The discount on assorted nettings would be reduced 10 per cent. on the same day, which, of course, means an increase of price by a proportionate amount. Probably the distributing price of assorted nettings will then be the list instead of 7½ per cent. off list now ruling. The manufacturers are in treaty with the Victorian and South Australian Governments to supply each with large orders. On the other hand, the manufacturers have taken steps to prevent merchants speculating in the netting. Orders are taken only from day to day, and bookings ahead are not allowed. The storekeeper cannot be controlled in this fashion, and it is possible that he may obtain somewhat more than he really requires.

THE TEA POSITION.

Some light is thrown on the tea position by the table of imports into the Commonwealth in March, issued by the Customs Department. Net imports are 350,000lb below those of March of last year. The statistics may be given thus:—

TEA IMPORTS, MARCH.

Country of Origin.	Mar., 1915. lbs.	Mar., 1914. lbs.	Mar., 1913. lbs.

Messrs. Geo. White and Co., of London, in their annual report of the world position, point out that, notwithstanding an increase in the crop, both of India and Ceylon, supplies have proved inadequate, and closing prices for all tea up to 11d per lb are the highest recorded since tea has become an article of world-wide consumption. Causes are the free supply of tea to an enormously increased army, uncertainty with regard to freight, and the fear of a further enhancement of duty, and Russian requirements stimulated, owing to the suppression of vodka drinking. Still, extreme prices now ruling, constitute a degree of uncertainty, not devoid of danger. China, with cheap silver, and consequent low exchange, may once again appear as a competitor, more especially in supplying the foreign markets.

The amount of wool manifested to arrive at Darling Harbour yesterday was 269 bales.

THE BUTTER FAMINE.

Sussex-street agents were yesterday able to fill only 50 per cent. of the orders they received for butter. A grocer who wanted six boxes was given three, and told to think himself lucky. The proclaimed price was unaltered at 126/ per cwt, delivered in boxes. Overseas ships' stores were in some instances filled with New Zealand butter in bond.

The egg market was weaker. New-laid were offered at from 2/3 to 2/6, railways and South Coasts at from 1/9 to 2/, and rivers at from 1/6 to 1/9, according to quality. Cold-stored supplies were available at 1/6, and preserved eggs at 1/4. The American eggs which arrived last week were of excellent quality and readily realised 2/ a dozen. One big buyer stated that the eggs were almost as good as new-laid. Duck eggs were worth from anything from 1/6 to 2/3, according to size and quality.

Cheese was unchanged at /10 per lb. Many agents had none to sell.

There was a brisk interstate demand for bacon, but local sales were dull. Values were well maintained.

The market was almost bare of honey, and prices were practically nominal.

HOMEBUSH STOCK MARKET.

SHEEP.

PRIME IN KEEN REQUEST.

A light to moderate supply was in view for yesterday's sales. Out of 23,318 sheep, including lambs, listed from 103 consignors, only 18,096 were forward. The consignments included one draft of 1350, one of 1400, and one of 800, the balance being mainly in lots of 90 to 300 head.

The weather was fair, and all the sheep were classed and penned up by the opening of the sales. The pennings comprised all descriptions, chiefly carrying half to three-quarter wool skins, with a sprinkling of woolly and occasional pens of autumn shorn. There was a fair showing of crossbreds, but merinos largely preponderated. The merinos included a moderate representation of prime and occasional pens of extra prime wethers and ewes; but mainly comprised medium to useful trade sorts. There was a sprinkling of inferior, but poor descriptions were not so considerably in evidence as prior to the recent rains. The crossbreds were generally good to prime, with a sprinkling of extra prime, carrying good free skins, and occasional pens of medium and plain. The selection was well up to the average in crossbreds, and rather better in merinos than of late, when medium and light sheep were unduly plentiful.

There was a full attendance of buyers, including exporters, the Sydney Meat Preserving Company, Ltd., the usual Glebe Island, suburban, and country trade, as well as an operator for Victoria. The market opened to an animated demand for all the better qualities at the best of last Thursday's rates. Useful descriptions were in good request, without material alteration; but very medium to inferior descriptions were dull and irregular. This tone, with very slight variation, prevailed throughout.

Included in the merinos was a draft of wethers from F. Proctor (Neworra) to 26/10, from J. T. Skuthorpe (Walgett) to 28/3, C. C. Dangar (Uralla) to 27/, W. H. Troweeke (Mungindi) to 24/1, C. C. Dangar (Quirindi) to 25/. In merino ewes drafts from the A.A. Co. (Willow Tree) sold to 22/8, C. B. Crowley (Merrywinebone) to 21/11, W. H. Troweeke to 21/5, and the ewes portion of the draft from F. Proctor to 23/5. A draft of 420 shorn ewes from J. M'Donald (Moree) sold from 11/2 to 14/. Among the crossbreds was a draft of ewes from J. Cass (Wattamondara) to 33/6, W. A. O'Neil (Combara) to 27/, and J. L. Boxsell (Wallendbeen) to 29/. A line of wethers from J. H. Thomas (Nyngan) to 37/. D. M'Gregor (Cooma) to 25/, P. Dunn and Sons (Rylstone) to 28/9, T. F. and J. Grills (Guyra) to 27/6. Lines of hoggets from F. Proctor to 30/3, S. R. Skuthorpe (Walgett) to 27/3, S. Sadler (Gilgandra) to 26/10.

Quotations.—Prime half to three-quarter wool merino w 24/ to 26/, extra prime 27/ to 28/, good half to three-quarter merino w and h 17/ to 21/, medium half to three-quarter merino w and h 12/6 to 15/, inferior 6/ to 9/; prime half to three-quarter wool merino e 19/ to 21/, extra prime 22/6 to 24/6; good half to three-quarter wool merino e 15/ to 17/, medium half to three-quarter wool merino e 10/ to 12/, inferior 5/6 to 8/; prime woolly crossbred w and h 23/6 to 25/; extra prime woolly crossbred w and h 27/ to 30/, a few to 37/; good woolly crossbred w and h 18/ to 21/, medium woolly crossbred w and h, 13/ to 15/6; prime woolly crossbred e 23/ to 27/; extra prime woolly crossbred e 30/ to 33/6, good woolly crossbred e 17/ to 19/, medium woolly crossbred e 13/ to 15/.

LAMBS.

A FIRMER DEMAND.

A moderate supply of lambs was penned, the bulk being crossbred, with a sprinkling of merino. All descriptions were forward, chiefly woolly lambs and suckers, with occasional pens of shorn and short-wool lambs. The pennings included a moderate representation of prime and odd pens of extra prime, with a considerable proportion of fair to good quality and occasional pens of medium and light sorts. The bulk carried skins fairly free of burr and seed, while a sprinkling were rather burry. There was a better demand throughout than on Thursday last, which during the later sales was very weak.

Buyers included exporters and one or two graziers, values generally being very firm at the best of last Thursday's rates. A draft of crossbreds from W. T. Grant (Curlewis) sold to 20/7, R. R. Dangar (Quirindi) to 19/11, and H. L. McKellar (Glendarnel) to 21/.

Quotations: Prime woolly lambs and suckers, 17/ to 18/; extra prime, 20/ to 22/; lambs, 11/ to 14/6; medium suckers and woolly, 6/ to 8/; prime short-woolled lambs, 15/6 to 17/; extra prime 18/6 to 20/; good short-woolled lambs 11/6 to 13/6; medium 8/6 to 10/; young and light, 6/ to 7/6.

CATTLE.

A FURTHER IMPROVEMENT.

A fairly large supply of cattle was in view for yesterday's sales, but all the consignments advised were not forwarded. Upwards of 2757 were listed from 136 consignors, but only about 2500 were likely to be yarded from 126 owners. Although 18 owners failed to forward, others came in, and 2676 head were finally yarded. The consignments came mainly from the northern, north-western, and Hunter River districts, with a sprinkling from the west and south. The yardings included a sprinkling of prime medium-weight and good heavy bullocks, but extra prime heavy bullocks were scarce. There was a small proportion of prime handy-weight bullocks and steers, with medium and useful bullocks and steers considerably preponderating. The cows and heifers included a sprinkling of prime and odd yards of extra prime, but mainly comprised fair to useful trade sorts, also a moderate showing of rough and inferior from dairy sorts, together with bulls, calves, and yearlings.

There was a large attendance of buyers, and as the supply was well within the demand the market generally was firmer. The tone was particularly keen for good-quality weighty bullocks, and very strong for all good useful descriptions, including cows and heifers, with values generally 10/ per head above last Thursday's rulings.

Among the principal sales was a line of 27 bullocks from J. K. Mackay (Dungog) to £18/11/, avg £18/7/8; 10 bullocks from E. Brown to £19/4/, avg £17/15/4; a line of 30 bullocks from Peel River L. and M. Co. (Tamworth) to £17, avg £15/4/5; from Stirton Bros. (Garah), 26 steers to £14/4/, avg £13/15/4, and 16 cows to £14/9/, avg £13/2/6; from W. Crowley (Collewaroy), 26 steers to £16, avg £12/7/1; H. Chisholm (Wilga), to £18/7/, avg £15/6/9; J. R. M'Gregor, 21 bullocks to £18/13/, avg £17/12/5; A. M. Cadell (Deepwater), 24 heifers to £11/3/, avg £10/9/6; and H. W. Winter (Moree), 11 cows and heifers to £13/13/, avg £11/12/3.

Quotations.—Yards of prime heavy bullocks, £18 to £19; yards of prime medium-weight bullocks and steers £16 to £17/10/; yards of prime handyweight bullocks and steers, £15/10/ to £16; yards of prime light bullocks and steers, £11 to £12/10/; yards of good bullocks and steers, £9 to £10; yards of good light steers, £7/10/ to £8/10/; yards of medium and light steers, £5/10/ to £6/10/; yards of inferior, lower; yards of prime cows and heifers, £9/10/ to £10/10/; yards of extra prime cows and heifers, £11/10/ to £13; odd beasts to £14/16/; yards of good cows and heifers, £7/10/ to £8/10/; yards of medium cows and heifers, £5/10/ to £6/10/; yards of inferior, £4/10/ to £5/10/. Best light beef, 41/ to 43/, and in places higher; prime heavy beef, 38/ to 40/; good beef, 31/ to 33/; medium beef, 27/ to 29/ per 100lb.

NEWCASTLE HOSPITAL.

NEW WING OPENED.

NEWCASTLE, Monday.

The official opening of the new wing of Newcastle Hospital on Saturday by the President of the Legislative Council, Mr. F. Flowers, was witnessed by a great gathering of citizens.

The wing, which has cost about £18,000, is the western half of the northern wing, which, when complete, will bring Newcastle Hospital into line with the most modern institutions. It provides for 60 beds, or one-quarter of the whole accommodation in view. As soon as the new ward is occupied the Government will provide £1000 a month, up to the total of £15,000, for the completion of the whole wing. The furnishing and fittings of this new ward are of the most modern character, and compare favourably with that of any hospital in Australia. The cost of upkeep of Newcastle Hospital, with the new wing in occupation, will be about £10,000 annually. The Government is to be asked for an annual subsidy.

Mr. Flowers said no apology was needed for the expenditure of the money. He agreed with the president, Mr. Rankin, that hospital accommodation and maintenance should not depend on haphazard charity. Newcastle Hospital should be a medical school for those studying medicine. He could see no objection to this, though some had been raised by the medical profession. Doctors were very conservative in their outlook, and it took a long time to turn them from the narrow paths they trod.

"I don't think 15 per cent. of the population can afford the fees charged in private hospitals for serious operations," continued Mr. Flowers. "That being so, it is the sacred duty of the State to see that every man, woman, and child, not only in the cities and large towns, but in back-country districts, can get the medical attention they require. If they cannot come for it, medical attention should be sent to them in some towns. I certainly believe that before many years the Government will have to take full responsibility for the maintenance of and building of hospitals, and we will see the Government controlling every public hospital throughout the State."

The Chief Secretary (Mr. George Black) said he did not believe in drying up fountains of public benevolence, as there was nothing so admirable as charitable demonstrations evidencing humanitarian feelings towards their fellows. If that were done it would be a sad interference with the moral welfare of the people. When, however, giving was inadequate they must get it from the taxpayers. The Government would have to give Newcastle Hospital an increased contribution, because it was to be a district hospital. Mr. Flowers and he were agreed that the system of hospital administration by a board, partly elected and partly nominated, must be continued, and women should be included. Such people gave better service than mere paid Government officials ever could. (Applause.)

A MUCH-TRAVELLED PICTURE.

A much admired work by Norman Carter, which will be remembered under the title of "A Low-toned Harmony," as a dominant contribution to the Royal Art Society's Exhibition of 1912, has now safely reached his studio once more, after an adventurous absence of nearly three years. This striking full-length portrait subject, which reproduces many of the characteristics of Miss Florence Rodway, who inspired it, was exhibited at the Paris Salon in 1913. The Salon directorate at once awarded the Australian painter a beautifully cut bronze medal, and the diploma of the Society Des Artistes Francais, which now hangs upon his walls. Though a very large work, the canvas being about 7ft by 3½ft, it was hung upon the line in London at the Royal Academy Exhibition of 1914, and was removed shortly before war was declared. After that, Mr. Carter completely lost all trace of his chef d'oeuvre for several months. His Paris agent, M. Lefebvre-Foinet, went to the front with the French Army, and has not been heard of since. In the meantime the sub-agent who placed the picture before the R.A. committee, and subsequently removed it, kept silence. Eventually Mr. Carter received a catalogue from a friend, in which the address of "Norman St. C. Carter" was quoted as at a studio in the Finchley-road, St. John's Wood. Now the cherished picture is once more at Norwich-chambers, where it may be seen by art-lovers.

RAILWAY COLLISION.

KALGOORLIE, Monday.

Two trains collided near the 21-mile siding on the trans-Australian railway on Friday. The evening train, consisting of two engines and a number of empty trucks and water waggons, arrived at the siding shortly before the outward bound train from Kalgoorlie was due, and, being too long to be accommodated on the siding, waited on the main line at the eastern side of the loop, in order that the outward bound train might be run on to the siding.

By some means the train from Kalgoorlie, instead of being switched on to the siding, was allowed to run straight on, and dashed into the stationary train. The drivers and firemen on the stationary train, seeing that a collision was inevitable, jumped off and were not injured. The driver of the outward bound train escaped with a few bruises. Fortunately, the speed of the train was not very great. The two tenders were damaged, and three water waggons smashed.

MINING.

STOCKS FREELY QUOTED.

VALUES FAIR.

BUSINESS VERY LIMITED.

For the opening day of the week the Stock Exchange yesterday was a series of contradictions. It was listless as regards the transaction of business—a common feature on the opening day of the week. Yet it was alert as regards the quotation of stocks, especially at "high change." Indeed, the list of stocks quoted was unusually large, especially remembering the way in which the community generally has been stirred by the latest German atrocity.

It was still more puzzling to note that, whilst stocks were freely quoted, and the figures indicated a generally satisfactory demand on the part of buyers, the amount of business transacted was very small indeed. Up to noon only three sales were booked, and they were so colourless in character as to give very little guidance as to the trend of the market.

That guidance was furnished by the quotations at high change. The figures then recorded showed solid buyers about for Corella and Mount Lyell. Mount Morgans were quoted wide, sellers declining to mark down prices. There were buyers of St. Mungo, but no declared sellers. Hampdens sold on terms on the easy side.

The only sale of Barriers was in Broken Hill Junction North at 5/11, a fractional decline. Solid buying offers were made for British Broken Hill (old), and Broken Hill Souths (con.), with sellers quoting wide. There were also fair inquiries for Broken Hill Proprietary, Broken Hill Junctions, contributing and paid. Sulphide Corporation (ord.), also the preferential scrip of the Zinc Corporation.

The announcement that last week's output by the Tongkah Harbour Tin-dredging Company jumped to 40 tons of tin oxide caused buyers to advance their bids to 33/, but sellers would not come below 36/. The 40 tons record is a big improvement on the 26 tons of the previous week, and even tops the 30 and 28 tons of the two previous periods. The record for the month, according to these figures, is the excellent one of 124 tons, with one dredge under repairs.

Other tin stocks were quoted freely, and, generally speaking, holders demanded firm prices, whilst buyers were silent in some cases, and wide in others. There was no evidence of scrip-holders being soft. Gold stocks were rather quiet. As far as concerns the amount of business recorded, the market brightened up a little during the afternoon, but with one or two exceptions prices were fairly well maintained.

MINING NOTES.

The output of the Tongkah Harbour Tin Dredging Company last week was 40 tons of tin oxides.

The manager of the Black Range West Gold-mining Company (W.A.) advises as follows for the week ended March 10:—"No. 2 south level: No change to report. No. 3 south level: Progress slow owing to country rock becoming harder. Quartz vein and mineral still in face."

Reports to hand from the Umeari Gold, Limited, dated April 10, show that the dredge was then about two-thirds of a mile from the company's ground, and that as a result of several days' dredging and the rain then falling he hoped to be on the claims before his report reached Sydney. The dredgemaster also states that, although the material he was then dredging was pure drift and silt, yet it contained fine colours of gold, and that from tests he had made he expects to be on payable ground at about the eight-mile peg, or, say, a mile and a half from where he then was.

During April the mill of the Bullfinch Proprietary (W.A.), Ltd., crushed 6496 tons of ore for 3003oz of gold, worth £8985 19s. The cost of mining was £2853 16s 2d, treatment £2215 17s 2d, total working expenses £5069 7s 4d (cost per ton 15/7.29); total profits, £3916 11s 8d.

Writing in reference to the decision of Mr. Justice Harvey, directing that all proceedings in the suit Mount Oxide Mines, Ltd., v Sir Albert Gould and others be stayed until the plaintiff company had given security in three separate sums of £300 each, one for each separate set of defendants, "Shareholder" suggests "That the liquidators of the company convene a meeting at any early date, with a view of submitting the present position of affairs, and all owing the shareholders to fully discuss matters."

BROKEN HILL MILL RETURNS.

North Broken Hill, Limited (weekly return):—Treated 6250 tons crude ore, assaying 15.5 per cent. lead, 8.5oz silver, and 12.9 per cent. zinc, producing 1026 tons concentrates, assaying 60.6 per cent. lead, 24.1oz silver, and 9.3 per cent. zinc.

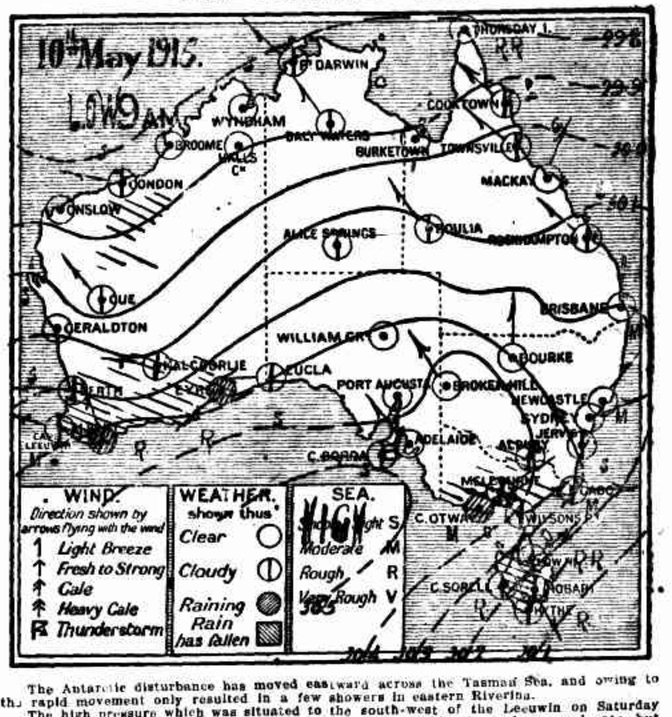
AUSTRALIAN WEATHER.

THE "HERALD" MAP.



The Antarctic disturbance has moved eastward across the Tasman Sea, and owing to the rapid movement only resulted in a few showers in eastern Riverina.

The high pressure which was situated to the south-west of the Leeuwin on Saturday has gained a great deal of energy, and has travelled a little above the normal rate, but since then it has moved further southwards, and now looks more promising. This southerly surge gives an easterly trend to the winds which bring the moisture from the Tasman Sea to our inland districts, and therefore we may look for some rain within the next three or four days.

Ocean Forecast.—Squally south-westerly winds around Tasmania, passing to the Tasman Sea; storm centre north of Thursday Island, moving southwards.

A SHIP'S SPEED.

MASTER CAUTIONED.

BRISBANE, Monday.

A preliminary inquiry was held before the assistant shipping inspector (Captain H. G. Shaw) to-day into the speed of the Adelaide Company's Wandilla on her voyage down the river on April 27.

This was the result of complaints received in regard to damage done to ropes and moorings through the wash caused by the alleged excessive speed of the vessel.

After reviewing the evidence submitted, Captain Shaw reported to the Marine Board that the master had stated in evidence that he was in a hurry to get out of the river as he was very sick. The master could not judge what speed he was going. He was inclined to imagine he might be going faster than was usual.

The Marine Board severely censured Captain C. C. Mackenzie for a breach of speed regulations, and cautioned him that a repetition of the offence complained of being proved against him would result in his pilotage exemption for the port of Brisbane being dealt with.

SOUTH AUSTRALIAN JOCKEY CLUB.

AUTUMN MEETING.

SECOND (CUP) DAY.

NAXBERY WINS CUP.

ADELAIDE, Monday.

The Cup Meeting was continued to-day in glorious weather, and there was a capital attendance, but the totalisator figures displayed a falling away of nearly £5000 on those of 12 months ago, and this in the face of the fact that there was an additional race to-day. The sport began with the Maiden Plate, and, strangely enough, Alsace fell at the exact spot where Eastern Era came down on Saturday, and the jockey (Nerine) was killed. To-day, however, the mishap was not attended by serious results. Silver Lad led all the way in the Accession Handicap, and just managed to struggle home by a neck. Naxbery was favourite for the Adelaide Cup, and, although he went out sore, and was among the last division for a considerable part of the journey, he got within striking distance of the leaders half way up the straight, and won easily. Flash Jack fell in the Marion Steeplechase two fences from home, when he apparently had the race won, and an odds-on chance in Pretty Bobby was beaten in the [illegible] race. The details of the racing are appended:—

Maiden Plate, 1m.—Mr. R. Crawford's b g Prince Bardolph, by Bardolph—La Mona, 3yrs, 8st 1lb (Evans), 1; Mr. T. Reynolds' ch h Golden Goblet, 4yrs, 8st 5lb (Killorn), 2; Mr. J. V. Smith's ch h Cock of the North, 4yrs, 8st 7lb (Lewis), 3. Other starters: Kongarong (J. Hopwood), Initiate (Krogdahl), Pistol Belle (Bax), Albaree (Ringer), Partnership (Bissett). Albaree fell and interfered with Cock of the North. As soon as the straight was entered, Prince Bardolph went to the front, and won by a short neck, with Cock of the North a length and a half away third. Time, 1m 44⅘s. Dividend: £3 12s.

Accession Handicap, 6f.—Mr. P. A. Connolly's b h Silver Lad, by Ayr Laddie (imp.)—Silver, 6yrs, 8st 4lb (Fisher), 1; Mr. M. Rasheed's ch g River Prince, 4yrs, 8st 2lb (Bax), 2; Mr. E. L. D. Clarke's Lesbos, 3yrs, 8st 3lb (Lewis), 3. Other starters: Miss Neckersgat (Hopwood), Sister Radius (Olsen), Yarrien (Singh), Quair Burn (Redfern), Leucops (Smart), Golden Fortune (Leonard), Squatter's Hope (O'Reilly), Double Up (Bennett), La Reveille (Bissett), Thorindale (Harmer), Celtic Queen (Francis), Laria (Langcake). Silver Lad led all the way, and won by a short neck, a length and a half between second and third. Quair Burn was fourth. Time, 1m 14⅗s. Dividends: Silver Lad, £5 9s; River Prince, £2 18s.

ADELAIDE CUP, of 1500 sovs.—1m 5f.

(Bax); £145, Lartnen, 7st (O'Neill); £22 15/, Uki, 6st 12lb (Roberts); £144, Jarwan, 7st, inc. 7lb pen. (Hood); £360 10/, Royal Alice, 7st 3lb, inc. 10lb pen. (Townsend); £56 15/, Arhi, 6st 12lb, inc. 5lb pen. (R. W. Smart).

From a fair start, Jarwan, Jolly Beggar, and Tom Castro were first away, and, passing the stand, Jarwan was leading from Bon Ton and Friar Perfect. Royal Alice and Tom Castro were next, with Wassail and Naxbery last. Racing out of the straight, Friar Perfect was piloting Jarwan, Bon Ton, Mirabilite, Juan Fernandez, Sheriff Muir, and Highdown; but going along the back Uki was conspicuous in the van, and was succeeded by Jarwan and Friar Perfect, their [illegible] being Jolly Beggar, Tom Castro, and Sheriff Muir. Seven furlongs from home Uki, Jarwan, and Friar Perfect still occupied positions at the [illegible], and were three lengths in advance of Jolly Beggar, Tom Castro, and Sheriff Muir. Weeroona made all the running until the straight was entered, but then Barossa went to the front, and won easily by six lengths, eight lengths separating second and third. Novice was the only other to complete the course. Time, 4m 15s. Dividend: Barossa, £7 15s.

A POINTER FOR PARENTS.

Perhaps you are not aware that when boys get to a certain age they have just as stringent fashion laws as the most fastidious damsel. They are unwritten laws to be sure, and no one knows whence they originate, but they certainly exist, and there are few things a boy hates more than having to wear something that isn't in the recognised vogue—and that he doesn't want.

Taken from a purely economic point of view, it is bad business to force a suit on him that he doesn't want, because that suit isn't going to last too long; but the one he likes he will take care of.

This winter's fashion for boys is the Three-piece Rugby Suit, mostly in Grey, and very smart it looks, too. The waistcoat, as well as being dressy, is a sensible addition for the winter months.

BOYS' RUGBY SUITS

in English Rough Cheviots, Homespuns, Serges, and Worsteds, also in Vicars' (Australian) Marrickville Pure Wool Tweeds—a dressy and serviceable suit for boys from 10 to 17 years of age. Made with smart long roll lapel, two-button Coat, well defined at waist, and with good length and full skirt. Vest well cut at neck, with four pockets, and tapered points at base. The Knickers are strongly lined, and made with plain buttons or golf style cuff buttonings. Every Suit has extra patching materials and buttons.

PURE WOOL TWEEDS,

18/, 21/, 22/, 25/, 27/6, 30/, and 32/6, according to size.
